SENATE VOTES LIQUOR REFERENDUM 30-20, SENDING AMENDMENT MEASURE BACK TO HOUSE

Detroit Police Defy Union Ultimatum, Oust Sitters

STRIKE CALL HELD, BUT MARTIN SAYS 'THIS IS NO BLUFF'

Labor Officials Concentrate on Plans for Demonstration of 200,000 Tonight; Mayor To Urge Council's Permission.

UNIONISTS FORM 'MILITARY' GROUP

U.A.W. Considers Recall Move Against Mayor Couzens and Manufacturers Against Murphy.

DETROIT, March 22.—(AP)—Police replied to a United Automobile Workers' threat of a general strike in Detroit by ejecting strikers from a printing plant and a city welfare office today.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, who issued an ultimatum of a general strike, to be called today unless police desisted in their campaign against smaller striker-occupied plants, said a decision would not be reached immediately.

To suggestions the union was "bluffing," he replied "General Motors thought we were bluffing and Chrysler thought we were bluffing. We are not bluffing in this matter, either."

The U. A. W. officials were concentrating on plans for a huge mass meeting to be held tomorrow evening at Cadillac Square despite the city council's refusal of a permit.

Ed. Hall, second vice president of the union, said: "We don't give a whoop about the permit; we'll be there anyway." Martin said between 100,000 and 200,000 would participate, "to show labor's strength" and to demand that the police "stop strike-breaking brutality."

Couzens Backs Rally.
Mayor Frank Couzens announced tonight he would recommend to the common council that it issue permission for the labor rally tomorrow under certain conditions.

The mayor's announcement followed a long conference with Martin, Richard Frankenstein, U. A. W. organizational director, and Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor.

The mayor said it was agreed the meeting was to be "peaceful and orderly" and under the protection of city police "so as to prevent any unlawful or outside interference."

The agreement was contingent upon the council's concurrence, he said.

Couzens read a prepared statement denying police had employed brutality in ejecting sit-down strikers, and said "we (the mayor and the police department) reaffirm our positive statement that there will be no interference in peaceful so-called sit-down strikes."

Asked if the U. A. W. strike which closed all divisions of the Chrysler Corporation fell in the "peaceful" category, Superior Police Officer P. J. Pickett said: "That's a court matter."

Martin Accuses Chrysler.
Martin, in a statement today, charged that the Chrysler Corporation had "deliberately" withheld "valuable evidence" from the La Follette senate investigating committee, and accused it also of blacklisting a number of employees for "union activity."

Martin said photographic evidence included cards of employees with such notations as "Fired for extending every effort to organize inspectors; do not rehire"; "talks too much union"; "formerly active union man; to best of our knowledge he has severed all connections and is apparently O. K.;" "B. E. Hutchinson, corporation official, denied that any subpoenaed evidence had been withheld and added that the U. A. W. appears to have added the crime of breaking and entering to the crime of breaking and entering."

Tosses Boy 4 Stories, Then Leaps To Death

NEWARK, N. J., March 22.—(AP) Enraged when a friend's wife refused him a $100 loan, a 45-year-old man threw his sleeping 10-year-old son through a fourth-story window tonight and leaped to death from the same window, detectives said.

The man, listed by police as Anthony Dalkis, 45, formerly of Springfield, Mass., died a few minutes later at city hospital.

The boy, George Calogaris Jr., was reported in critical condition.

The window was closed when he was hurled through, and he was badly cut by the glass and frame.

Sit-Downers Promise It Won't Happen Again, Freed

RECORDER ACQUITS RELIEF STRIKERS

Two Leaders Are Freed on Promise Sit-Down Won't Happen Again

Climaxing the most active day to date in the Fulton county controversy over public welfare, two alleged leaders of yesterday's relief sit-down strike were acquitted of disorderly conduct charges at a recorder's court hearing late in the afternoon.

Recommendations that council immediately release $25,000 for relief and that the salary of Frank Miller, executive director of the Department of Public Welfare, be reduced from $475 to $350 per month were submitted during the afternoon by a special city committee which had just completed an intensive investigation of relief activities.

Police broke up the sit-down strike effort before it was well under way, but before Rolfe Edmondson, Atlanta Journal reporter, was forcefully thrown from the old Telephone building at Pryor and Mitchell streets, where relief headquarters are located, where relief headquarters are located, where relief headquarters are located.

NAZIS BAN TALK ON PAPAL LETTER

Editorial Withdrawn From Berlin Paper on Order of Foreign Office.

BERLIN, March 22.—(AP)—Startled German officialdom tonight forbade comment on Pope Pius' surprise letter accusing the Nazi regime of breaking pledges to the Catholic church and fostering paganism, until the government has had full time to consider all consequences.

Editorial reaction appeared in only one newspaper, Chancellor Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter, but officials described it as unauthorized and ordered its withdrawal.

NANCE TO LAUNCH TEXTILE CAMPAIGN

Membership of 3,000,000 Is Goal of Industrial Committee, Says Leader.

Drive for organization of the textile workers of the south into the newly formed Textile Workers' Industrial Organization, successor to the United Textile Workers, will be launched at once from regional headquarters in Atlanta, it was announced yesterday by A. Steve Nance, director for the southeast.

The Textile Workers' Industrial Committee, which will direct the national drive, has taken over the entire membership and organization of the United Textile Workers, Mr. Nance said. It is the hope of leaders to secure a membership in the T. W. I. O. of at least 3,000,000. Membership in the United Textile Workers was about 90,000 when it was absorbed by the new group.

A. F. of L. Relations Unchanged.
Organization of the Textile Workers' Industrial Committee will not affect relations in this territory with the American Federation of Labor, according to Mr. Nance. He added that there is not now any direct connection between the newly formed T. W. I. O. and the C. I. O., headed by John L. Lewis, rival of William Green, president of the A. F. of L.

Mr. Nance has been named regional director in charge of the southeastern headquarters by the new group. He declared yesterday that this would in no way affect his affiliation with the Georgia Federation of Labor, the state division of the A. F. of L.

The Textile Workers' Organization Committee, Mr. Nance said, is being directed by Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and national offices are being maintained in New York city.

Rivalry Not Issue.
The rivalry between William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., was not an issue.

Diver Breaks Back In 266-Foot Plunge

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—(UP)—Professional stuntman Ray Woods, who said there was "absolutely no danger" involved in a leap from the new San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, received a broken back when he tried the trick today.

Woods made the jump in ordinary street clothes and without permission of authorities. He landed in the bay after a fall of about 266 feet.

It was the first leap from the $75,000,000 span.

He struck the water heavily, and was floundering helplessly when a passing launch rescued him.

Police said Woods' leap today was performed for a firm dealing in news pictures and that he was to receive $500.

His wife and several other witnesses were with him when he was to the bridge, climbed over the rail, and jumped. Cameras recorded his fall.

HUGHES DECLARES PLAN WOULD SLOW WORK OF TRIBUNAL

Chief Justice Says Van Devanter and Brandeis Agree and That He Expresses View of Rest of High Court Associates.

WHEELER BLAMES ATTORNEY GENERAL

After Reading Judge's Letter, He Accuses Cummings of Misinforming Roosevelt on Docket.

The complete text of Chief Justice Hughes' letter will be found in Page 11.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(UP) Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes said today in a letter to Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, that President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization plan was likely to impair the efficiency of the supreme court.

Wheeler read the letter to the senate judiciary committee as opponents of the plan opened their attack on the measure. In it the chief justice cast doubt on the constitutionality of dividing an enlarged court into sections to speed its work, a suggestion made by administration witnesses.

Hughes said he spoke with the concurrence of Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Willis Van Devanter, who are considered the No. 1 liberal and conservative, respectively, of the court. He added that while he had not had time to confer with all members, he believed he expressed the view of the entire court.

Avoids Policy Comment.
He made clear, however, that he was commenting only on the operation of an enlarged court, and avoided any comment on its policy.

It was the first formal statement by a member of the court commenting specifically on Mr. Roosevelt's pending bill, which would permit appointment of six additional justices if those now over 70 fail to resign.

Wheeler, leading opponent of the plan, after reading the letter to an attentive committee and a packed hearing room, gave the committee three reasons for his opposition. He argued that:

1. There is "no assurance you will get relief" for labor, agriculture and other groups in the manner proposed.

2. It is "immoral."

3. It is a "stop gap" plan rather than a fundamental solution of the problem and the witness argued it was "immoral."

RETIRED JUSTICE BACKS COURT PLAN

John H. Clarke Declares Reform Proposal Is 'Clearly Constitutional.'

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 22.—(AP) John H. Clarke, only living retired supreme court justice, told the nation tonight that President Roosevelt's judiciary reform proposal is "plainly within the powers granted to the congress and therefore clearly constitutional."

Clarke, who became associate justice in 1916, resigned from the supreme court in 1922 to devote his time to cultivating public opinion favorable to world peace.

Addressing a nation-wide radio (NBC) audience, he said he yielded to no one in his "confidence in and estimate of the great value of the supreme court as a department of our government, and I shall not criticize in any manner either any of its recent decisions, or the proposals of the President."

"Would a conditional increase of the number of judges of the supreme court by act of congress, as recommended by the President, be constitutional or not?" Clarke asked. "I shall confine myself to that asked legal question."

"No rule of law is better established than that great weight must always be given by the courts to early—contemporaneous—construction of the constitution by the legislative or executive departments of the government, especially when such construction has been followed by the courts."

Constitution Garden School Opens Spring Sessions Today

Mrs. Crown To Lecture on Spraying at First Day's Class; Sears' Fashion Show To Precede Daily Horticultural Talks.

Heralded as the most instructive and entertaining garden school ever presented to Atlantans, The Constitution Spring Garden School to run for three days, will open this morning at the Atlanta Woman's Club, at Peachtree and Thirteenth streets.

Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, of Decatur, nationally known gardening expert and charming lecturer, again will conduct the garden school classes.

Preceding the school lecture and demonstrations each morning, Sears will present its style parade, a "revue of practical fashions for spring and summer."

Mrs. Crown is so well known throughout the nation as an authority on all types of gardening she needs no introduction to residents of this vicinity. Her own beautiful gardens and the grounds about her Decatur home speak volumes for the practical application of the methods of gardening in which she instructs her audiences at The Constitution's garden schools.

Mrs. Rivers As Hostess.
Mrs. E. D. Rivers, first lady of Georgia, will be hostess at the opening session of the school this morning.

Herself intensely interested in homes and gardens, she will prove a charming hostess to residents of Atlanta and other Georgia cities attending the opening garden school class.

A special feature tomorrow and Thursday morning will be the showing of a full color film revealing how work is carried on in the great flower seed "ranches" of California. Intensely interesting, the 30-minute film will be shown at 9:30 o'clock each morning.

The film was secured through the National Garden Bureau and will show Atlantans how most of the seeds they buy are raised in California. Great fields of flowers are shown in full color and many enlarged photographs of individual species of flowers will be thrown on the screen. Methods of hand pollination and self-pollination, irrigation, seed gathering and other interesting steps in securing large quantities of seed for the gardener will be included in the color-film presentation. Mrs. Crown will give a running explanation of the film as it is shown.

So many beautiful gardens, flowers and shrubs have been ruined by insects, fungus growth and rot that a short but effective course in "life saving" for plants should be absorbed.

TAXES, LICENSES ON RUM DOUBLED BY UPPER BRANCH

Paper Ordered Returned Immediately to House for Its Concurrence on Changes; Debate Is Marked by Few Battles.

$3,000,000 REVENUE EXPECTED YEARLY

Advertising by Whisky Stores Barred; Half Pint Is Set as Smallest Amount To Be Sold.

Georgia's repeal referendum bill, passed last week by the house, swept to a 30-to-20 victory in the senate at the first night session of the upper house last night, following a two-hour of time debate.

President John B. Spivey commented that this was the first bill of the session on which every senator cast his vote.

Ayes—Almond, Atkinson, Atwood, Burgin, Burrell, Chason, Egan, Flynt, Fowler, Griner, Hampton, Harrell, Horne, Johnson, Knabb, Lindsey, McCutcheon, Milligan, Neely, Patten, Peables Phillips, Pope, Purdom, Sammon, Shedd, Sikes, Sutton, Thrasher, Williams.

Nays—Allen, Aultman, Brock, Clemens, Forrester, Greer, Hardman, Harrison, Holmes, Jackson, Jones, Kimbrough, McKenzie, Moye, Patterson, Pruett, Shannon, Terrell, Walker, Whitehead.

Ordered to House.
On motion of Senator Walter M. Harrison, 17th district, chief of the forces opposing the bill, the measure was ordered transmitted immediately to the house.

The scale of gallonage taxes, as set up in the house bill, was almost doubled under an amendment by the senate.

Debate was opened by Senator David S. Atkinson, First district, floor leader of the senate, leader of repeal proponents, who declared "the state must have $10,000,000 of new taxes if it is to meet requirements of the $20,000,000 house appropriation bill."

"If we can tax all the good things of our state, every legitimate business and every kind of legitimate property," Senator Atkinson asked, "why not make this evil thing, liquor, pay its part of the freight?"

"The federal government has tried every way in the world to enforce the federal prohibition law, but repealed it when it was found absolutely unenforceable."

Regulation Urged.
"There's no use for us to try to duck the situation. The liquor business is already here and we ought to regulate it."

He discussed the revenue feature, saying $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 was expected.

Hapeville Election Held Legal by Jury

Councilmen selected by Hapeville voters last December were "duly elected and the election was legal," a Fulton superior court jury held yesterday afternoon.

A quo warranto suit had been brought by J. D. Kemp, one of the defeated candidates, seeking to oust S. C. Gerrard, R. L. Mullens and J. C. Brown, who were the high vote getters in the regular election. Kemp contended some persons voting in the election were not legally registered and that the polls were kept open longer than provided by law.

LEOPOLD, EDEN CONFER ON BELGIAN DEMANDS FOR NEUTRALITY PACT

King Acts as Own Foreign Minister in Security Conversations.

LONDON, March 22.—(P)—King Leopold III, of Belgium, took his national neutrality demands direct to British Foreign Secretary Eden tonight.

The visiting monarch lost no time getting down to business after a dinner in his honor at the Belgian embassy, which was attended by Prime Minister Baldwin.

Acting virtually as his own foreign minister, Leopold discussed with Eden vital problems pertaining to the projected new western Europe security pact.

He explained Belgium's about-face policy, effected last fall, a demand for guarantee of neutrality by her big neighbors—France, Germany and Britain—but without a promise that Belgium would aid them if they are attacked.

Great Britain on the whole was believed to view the Belgian viewpoint sympathetically. She wishes, however, to know whether Brussels intends to carry out her obligations under the covenant of the League of Nations, which binds members to co-operation against an aggressor.

Belgium was believed to be working for an end to conversations between the general staffs of France, Britain and Belgium since Germany scrapped the Locarno treaty by reoccupying the Rhineland.

France and Britain have maintained that unless advance military preparations are made they would be unable to save Belgium, and France as well, from invasion. Belgium has felt the talks were not compatible with her "isolation" policy.

'Flying Duchess,' 71, Is Missing on Hop

LONDON, March 22.—(P)—Britain's 71-year-old "Flying Duchess"—the Duchess of Bedford—was missing tonight after starting a solo flight this afternoon, and it was feared she was a crash victim.

Police patrols searched the Bedfordshire countryside for a trace of the plane in which the Duchess hopped off from Woburn at 3:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m., Atlanta time), for what was to have been a short flight. The British Broadcasting Company broadcast a call for news of her.

She took up flying at the age of 62 and has flown thousands of miles in many parts of the world.

THE BEST GRAY HAIR REMEDY IS MADE AT HOME
You can now make a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce of Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any drugstore can get this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not run off.

'TATTLER' OF BOYS' HIGH ISSUED BY NEW STAFF

School Paper, Quarter Century Old, 'Carries On' Despite Resignations.

The first issue of the Boys' High Tattler to be edited and supervised by the newly named staff appeared on the campus yesterday exactly 13 days after 23 members of the old staff resigned in a body in a movement described as an "attempt to accomplish worth-while things."

Immediately following the resignation of the old staff Ed Euler, assistant principal, appointed Cecil London and Corbett Peak new co-editors. The appointments were approved by a group who had volunteered to "carry on" the Tattler despite the resignation of the old staff and an entire new staff of 25 members was named.

In resigning, the former staff charged printers had ruined a previous issue of the Tattler and demanded a change of printers. They also demanded that a course in journalism be created and all on the Tattler staff be given credits.

In answer to the first charge the new Tattler says "should it be found conclusively that the printer is at fault the faculty will change printers—but not until then." No mention was made of the demand for a journalism class.

The new staff is composed of Cecil London, Corbett Peak, Milton Calhoun, S. Pazol, Kenneth Richmond, Albert Rayle, Marshall Banks, Harold Saine, Roy Gore, Bob McDuffie, Bob Sheldon, Billy Rodges, W. Elcock, Otis Garrard, Charles Hollingsworth, William Fillingim, Malcolm Gaitley, Joe Trammell and Count Gibson.

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Tattler's first edition and the paper, in a front page story, says, "The Tattler must not die out with the resignation of the former staff."

Ex-Office Boy Named Secretary Of Company He Served 20 Years

David F. Cocks, Former Atlanta, Promoted by Standard Oil.

David F. Cocks, formerly of Atlanta, but now of Louisville, Ky., has been elected secretary of the Standard Oil Company, Incorporated in Kentucky, according to announcement received in Atlanta. This action was taken at the annual meeting of the company, held in Louisville last week.

Mr. Cocks was for a number of years located here and his rise from office boy in 1917 to secretary of the company in 1937 reads like a business romance.

Mr. Cocks began his connection with the company in March of 1917, as office boy in their Jacksonville office, advancing from that job to a position as stock accountant. In September of 1920 he was transferred to Atlanta and in 1924 was promoted to the position of chief clerk of the Atlanta district office. In April of 1931 he was made city sales manager and in September of the same year was transferred to Louisville, in the position of home office auditor.

In 1933 Mr. Cocks was elected a director of the company and appointed as assistant to the vice president and treasurer. In 1936 he was elected assistant secretary and last Thursday he was elected secretary.

While in Atlanta Mr. Cocks attended the Atlanta Law school and Georgia Tech. He is a member of the Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity and Gate City Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M. and Mrs. Cocks is the former Helen Helen Dunnington Cocks.

Wayt, of Atlanta, and Mr. and Mrs. Cocks are frequent visitors to Atlanta at the home of her father, John C. Wayt, on Peachtree road. They have two children, David Francis Jr. and Helen Dunnington Cocks.

The petition was filed after being signed by Judges E. D. Thomas, Virgil B. Moore and John D. Humphries. Hearing was set for 9 o'clock Saturday.

Williford at present is under a two-year sentence for perjury, but is out on bond. A motion to disbar him was filed recently and a temporary ruling ordering him not to practice pending the outcome of the disbarment proceedings was granted. The charges filed yesterday allege he has violated this temporary order by offering his services as an attorney; accepting claims of damages to settle; preparing cases for trial and by advising clients on legal questions.

DR. COLLINS TALKS ON STATE SCHOOLS
Lions Club Hears Education Leader Describe Newly Enacted Laws.

Stressing the need of greater rural education, Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, told members of the Atlanta Lions club yesterday afternoon, that new legislation had been enacted which would provide for the boys and girls of the rural communities who until the present time had not been able to secure the same educational facilities as their city cousins. Dr. Collins stated the new laws passed would be far-reaching, enabling every Georgia boy and girl to have the advantages of fuller education and a longer school term.

Dr. Collins presented to Janet Van Cise the Harry Barfield loving cup won by her prize-winning poster on Fire Prevention Week. Chief O. J. Parker accompanied Miss Van Cise to the meeting.

Edilton E. Evers, Francis Croft and Norman Thompson presented a program on piano and piano accordion music. Miss Croft sang several songs.

$54,439 TAX RETURN ASKED BY DUPONT
WILMINGTON, Del., March 22.—(P)—Counsel for Pierre du Pont, asked federal district court today to order returned to du Pont $54,439 in income taxes which he paid the government in 1931 under protest.

Du Pont claimed deductions for dividends he paid to the Christina Securities Corporation and the Delaware Realty & Investment Company, du Pont holding companies, on blocks of stock he had borrowed.

He made the stock loans under agreements to post collateral for the stock and pay all dividends the stock might earn to the company. He also paid taxes on the stock levied on the companies.

First Lady Prefers Air Trip, Thank You

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight turned down an invitation to a sea voyage before she had been invited, but she did admit she would like a little airplane trip across the Pacific ocean.

Mrs. Roosevelt was informed the President might make a voyage to the Philippine Islands this summer. She shook her head and explained that she did not "particularly care for a sailor's life."

Then she added as an afterthought: "But I would fly there and like it." So there you are, Pan-American Airways.

EDEN GIVES DETAILS OF 'LIONS' APPEAL
Slaying of Leaders' Sons Cited to League, Commons Told.

LONDON, March 22.—(P)—Haile Selassie has appealed to the League of Nations to investigate a "massacre" at Addis Ababa, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told commons today after the Ethiopian legislation reported three sons of prominent natives had been killed.

Two sons of Dr. Warqneh C. Martin, Ethiopian minister to London, and Gelade Selassie Heroy, son of Gueta Heroy, Ethiopian foreign minister under the self-exiled Lion of Judah, were slain, the legislation said.

The three youths, all of whom returned to Ethiopia to fight against Italy after dropping their studies in English universities at the outbreak of the war, were said to have been condemned to death "under orders of Italian authorities."

They died, the legislation asserted, "during three terrible days of Addis Ababa massacre."

"Luckies never bother my throat in the least"

"I've been enjoying Luckies for a long while now. They're a light smoke and they never bother my throat in the least...and that goes for my voice too. I guess everyone knows that it takes a good many hours of rehearsal to produce an hour of show... especially with a program like the new 'Show Boat'. But I wonder if they realize what a wonderful feeling it is to relax for a while, forget all about work, and smoke a Lucky."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Ross verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. FRIENDS PAY $25 FINE FOR DR. SAMUEL GREEN, PUNISHED FOR 'ETHICS'

Physician Jailed for Refusal To Divulge Confidence, Now Free of Law.

Friends of Dr. Samuel Green, who for 36 hours last week was held in Fulton tower on contempt charges for refusing to reveal the name of a woman patient on whom he had performed a blood test, paid his $25 fine at the sheriff's office yesterday.

About 25 friends accompanied the doctor to the courthouse. The fine was over-subscribed by several hundred dollars, all of which, above the amount of the fine, will be returned, Dr. Green said. Contributing to the fund were doctors throughout the nation, lawyers, the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Tammany Club, associates of the doctor in the Peters building and many whose names were not made known.

From all sections of the country the doctor has been receiving letters congratulating him on taking the consequences rather than breaking a professional confidence. These will be answered, Dr. Green declared.

As these friends were paying the fine others were at the state capital to urge the speedy passage of a bill, introduced Friday, that will make doctors' relations with their patients privileged. At present only lawyers have this right.

In contributing to the doctor's fine payment, Tammany Club announced, "Our action in offering to pay all or part of the fine imposed on Dr. Green must not be construed to mean that we think Judge Humphries was wrong. We are well aware of the fact that Judge Humphries was well within the law and had no other course to take. We do feel, however, that the law should be changed, so as to provide protection for physicians and other professional men." Other contributors endorsed this statement.

Rail Official Badly Hurt in Atlanta Train Wreck

A split rail caused an engine and a tender to shoot over a 20-foot embankment near Ben Hill, Ga., yesterday morning, injuring one person and derailing six freight cars. The Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast train was en route to Waycross when the accident occurred. In the above photo the derailed boxcars are shown lying in crazy-quilt fashion just after the wreck occurred.

A. B. C. TRAIN WRECKED, ROADMASTER INJURED

Engine and Six Freight Cars Plunge Down Embankment at Ben Hill.

A. M. Wilder, roadmaster of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast Railroad was seriously injured when an engine and six freight cars struck a split rail and plunged over an embankment yesterday morning near Ben Hill.

His condition was reported as "fair" by Emory University hospital attaches last night.

Wilder, who lives at 6 Evelyn place, was reading in the engine cab when the accident occurred. He was pinned beneath loose coal from the train's tender and was rescued by a negro helper, who turned off escaping steam from the overturned engine-state boiler.

He was taken to the hospital, where he is suffering a broken leg and scalded abdomen and chest.

The accident occurred when the engine shot over a 20-foot embankment on the left of the track while the freight cars were derailed and went over the right side of the embankment. About 200 feet of track were torn up.

Four passenger cars at the rear of the train did not leave the track. No passengers were injured.

The train was en route to Waycross and was in charge of W. G. McCoy, conductor. R. A. Smith was engineer. The train had left Atlanta about 7:15 o'clock and the accident occurred at 8 o'clock.

C. E. Browder, general agent of the road, said that a crew would be put to work immediately to repair the track.

Engineer Smith and Ole Thompson, fireman, were thrown from the locomotive, but escaped injuries.

FIRST LADY BACKS WORKING WOMEN

Discrimination Against Sex Is 'Un-American,' She Declares.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, stopping here today on her seven-state lecture tour, declared discrimination against women in business was "un-American."

Exclusion of women, especially teachers, from jobs by some states during the depression, brought this comment from the first lady in an interview.

"Of course this was an emergency measure which I personally hope will not be permanent.

"Married women probably make better teachers than single ones, and I personally think that in excluding them the schools suffer more than the women."

"The theory of government is that by working we produce more than other people can have, and when that theory is violated it seems to me that we have lost something."

"But for women to work is an individual thing for each woman to decide. Their homes should come first, but there should be no discrimination against them."

"They should be given the chance to work on the basis of doing the job. It seems to me that all job-giving should be on that basis—personal qualification without regard to sex."

LEGAL BEER SALES START IN ALABAMA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 22.—(AP)—Legal beer will be on sale tomorrow in 24 Alabama counties which voted wet in a March 10 local option election, the State Alcohol Beverage Control Board said today.

The board said an undetermined number of "temporary permits" were issued today.

Those making application for licenses were given temporary permits, and will be permitted to go ahead with beer sales pending issuance of the formal license.

A board source said every bottle sold tomorrow must bear a half-cent stamp.

WAR VETERAN HELD ON WHISKY CHARGES

Jesse Thomas Ward, war veteran who admitted he had made a living for a year selling whisky by the pint and quart, yesterday was placed under $200 bond by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith on charges of possessing non-tax-paid whisky.

Ward claimed he was unable to get legitimate work and only drew $20 a month compensation from the government, and that with this he had to support his father and mother. Agents of the alcohol tax unit said they found 31 gallons of whisky at his home in Grinnett county, four miles east of Rome, Monday.

'Raid' on Treasury Is Not by Politician

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—A high white from an alarm siren sent guards scurrying today to slam and bar all entrances to the 110-year-old treasury building.

Seizing tear gas guns, a score of blue-coated watchmen made ready for an emergency. As curious office workers rushed into the hall, the alarm sounded again and the doors were flung open.

An inadvertent contact with an alarm switch made while furniture was being moved in the treasury cash room caused all the commotion.

TAX RECEIPTS UP

Government Reports Increase Over 1936.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—The treasury reported today that income tax collections during the first 20 days of March totaled $852,307,222, an increase of about 67 per cent over the same period last year.

The collections represented the bulk of March income tax revenue.

In his budget, Mr. Roosevelt estimated March collections would aggregate $840,000,000, they said today receipts for the remainder of the fiscal year would have to be covered before it could be determined whether they would fall short of President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

In his budget, Mr. Roosevelt estimated income tax collections for this fiscal year at $2,372,900,000.

STRIP TEASERS AGREE ON SHOWING IN COURT

Plan for Minsky Beauties May Prove Test of 'Judicial Blindness.'

NEW YORK, March 22.—(UP)—Four eye-filling young ladies from Minsky's burlesque tonight agreed to testify in court about the presence of three justices to find out whether strip-teasing is an art or justice is blind.

But they insisted the undressing be done in the privacy of a press room at the courthouse, with a five-piece band and no draught.

Their attorney, Fred J. Sullivan, refused to let the girls disrobe in open court on the grounds Gilda Gray once tried to dance a hula in a courtroom and got tossed out.

The three judges—Nathan Perlman, William A. Walling and John V. Flood—thought about it for a while, and it was tentatively decided to wait until next Monday when the undressing—if it has to be done—will be done in the press room with only the judges and newspaper reporters present.

The question whether strip-teasing is an art or an evil influence arose when John Summer, tall, hawk-eyed morals policeman for the Society for the Prevention of Vice, wandered into a burlesque show on Broadway and found, of all things, ladies in their underwear, and less. The girls were haled into court for a judicial dressing down.

TAXI DRIVER KIDNAPER GETS FIVE-YEAR TERM

Alleged Accomplices' Sentences Deferred Despite Pleas of Guilty.

Paul Cavin, of Summerville, Ga., yesterday was sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary after he entered a plea of guilty to kidnapping Horace W. Majors, a Chattanooga taxicab driver.

Two alleged accomplices, both 17 years of age, also entered pleas of guilty, but sentences were deferred when their statements to Judge E. Marvin Underwood were at variance with the plea of guilty. They entered a plea to the first count of a two-count indictment. It was indicated the pleas might be withdrawn and a jury trial held to decide the issue.

They are William Talles and Kenneth Tabor. The first count specifies violation of a federal statute against kidnapping and the second count kidnapping on federal property without favoring transportation of the kidnapped person across state lines.

This second count is drawn under the seldom-used federal statute which permits prosecution in federal courts under state laws for crimes committed on federal property where there is no federal law governing. In the case of kidnapping the federal law provides only for violations where the victim is transported across a state line.

Another defendant yesterday, Hubert Mabry, now serving a federal sentence at the Chillicothe reformatory under state laws for crimes committed on federal property where there is no federal law governing. In the case of kidnapping the federal law provides only for violations where the victim is transported across a state line.

Another defendant yesterday, Hubert Mabry, now serving a federal sentence at the Chillicothe reformatory under state laws for crimes committed on federal property where there is no federal law governing. In the case of kidnapping the federal law provides only for violations where the victim is transported across a state line.

He had entered a plea of guilty to transportation of 175 gallons of non-tax-paid whisky. Mabry, who lives near Gainesville, was sentenced from the middle district of Georgia federal court at Athens on whisky charges. His bond here was forfeited and he was sought as a fugitive when located at Chillicothe.

Other sentences imposed yesterday included:

Charles Mobley, 771 State street, Atlanta, for possession and transportation of 236 gallons of non-tax-paid whisky, two years. Mobley had served a term in the state prison for receiving stolen goods.

D. C. Patterson, four months; Old Thompson, three months, and Thomas Patterson, four months, for violations of the internal revenue laws. All three, who live near Lawrenceville, were found guilty by a jury last Thursday.

Emory Thomas Towler, of Decatur, Ga., six months in prison, the sentence to follow a present state term of two years being served on the Gwinnett county chain gang. Three gallons of whisky were found in a cabin behind Towler's place of business on the outskirts of Decatur by Alcohol Tax Unit agents last July.

Sam Flagg, 73 Kenyon street, Atlanta, possession and transportation of 10 gallons of whisky, four months. Flagg was captured on the Madison highway about five miles south of Avondale. He told arresting officers he was being paid $5 to bring the whisky to Atlanta.

An order for the arrest of William Isaac Benedict was issued following forfeiture of his bond yesterday. Benedict was said by his brother, who was acquitted yesterday on identical charges, to be in Florida. The brother, James Walter Benedict, said the fugitive had gone to Florida for a load of produce and his truck had broken down there and he had been unable to return. Both were indicted after officers allegedly found whisky in a garage at 634 Griffin street, N. W.

BIRD DELAYS TRAIN. JENKINTOWN, Pa., March 22.—(UP)—A Reading Company train bound for West Trenton, N. J., was delayed here six minutes today because of a ringneck pheasant. The bird flew into the cab of the electric locomotive and was electrocuted when it struck a fuse box. The train continued when the damage was repaired.

Many Would Adopt Parked-Auto Baby

WEST PALM BEACH, March 22.—(AP)—Good Samaritan hospital and the police department here were besieged today with offers of homes for a two-week-old boy, found abandoned in a parked car near a local church on Sunday.

Efforts to locate the parents have so far been unsuccessful and County Judge Robbins is considering what disposition to make of the infant. Meanwhile, it is being cared for at the hospital.

Mrs. J. M. Blake, occupant of a near-by apartment house, heard the baby crying as she was walking on the floor of the car, with written instructions for its feeding and care on a paper sack near by.

The infant was well dressed and apparently in good health.

N. C. HOUSE APPROVES HUGE SECURITY FUND

RALEIGH, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—The general assembly, on the eve of final adjournment, concluded its seventy-sixth day of law making tonight with sessions devoted to the swapping of pleasantries and the disposal of legislative remnants.

Both houses preceded fairly leisurely, with long senate debate on the "licker" bill.

The house ordered enacted into law the social security allotment bill, appropriating $1,000,000 for old-age assistance, $500,000 for aid to dependent children and $185,000 for either one, in each year of the 1937-38 biennium.

Senator Rush D. Holt, Democrat, West Virginia, who filibustered to death a similar bill at the close of the last congress, died tonight that he again would vigorously oppose passage but would not filibuster. He charged the measure would not help the 500,000 coal miners but would force coal consumers to "pay the freight for another centralization of power in Washington."

MEETING SET TODAY ON CHEROKEE PRIMARY

Session Called by Reid To Act on Vacancy on Circuit Bench.

Chairman Charles S. Reid, of the state Democratic executive committee, announced yesterday that they will be a meeting of the rules committee of the Democratic executive committee at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

The state chairman said the meeting is being called to permit the rules committee to discuss the matter of a special Democratic primary in the Cherokee judicial circuit prior to the general election scheduled June 8.

Judge Claude C. Pittman, of Cassville, who was defeated by J. A. McFarland, of Dalton, still occupies the judgeship. Mr. McFarland having died and the supreme court having declined to permit the appointment of a judge by the Governor.

Chairman Reid said the committee, if it decides a primary shall be held, shall fix the date for it.

There have been no announcements for the post but it is understood that Judge Pittman will make the race again while there have been reports that friends of Mayor Ollie Harden, of Dalton, are urging him to run.

Already passed by the house, the measure will be reported to the senate tomorrow for final action expected late this week.

LOUISIANA HIGH COURT VOIDS HUEY LONG LAW TO CONTROL ELECTIONS

Bench Rules Act Opens Door to 'Grossest Discrimination.'

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—(AP) One of the late Senator Huey P. Long's most stringent election laws was ruled out today by the Louisiana supreme court as a statute which opened the door "for the practice of the grossest kind of discrimination and unfairness."

The high court, voting 6 to 1, declared unconstitutional Act 28 of the second special session of the 1935 legislature which its opponents declared before the court "placed the election machinery of the state in the hands of one man," the Governor, and deprived the people of proper representation at the polls.

The act was passed at the height of Huey Long's control of Louisiana. It authorized the Governor to appoint a majority of the members of the board of election supervisors in each parish and provided for the board to

Threatening Letter Received by Aimee

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—(AP) A threatening letter, received by Aimee Semple McPherson kept police at Angeles temple today.

The letter to the Four-square Gospel leader named Holy Week as "the time to strike," said Captain Blaine R. Steed, of the homicide squad.

Officers will attend all services and last night flanked the temple pulpit when Mrs. McPherson delivered her Palm Sunday sermon.

Neither police nor Giles Knight, the evangelist's business manager, would divulge other contents of the message or progress of the investigation, begun three days ago.

select the commissioners and clerks who serve at elections.

Previously the election officials were drawn by the parish Democratic committee from lists of names submitted by the candidates for office and each candidate was given representatives at the polls.

Legality of the act was challenged by Eugene Stanley, former district attorney of Orleans parish, in a case from Alexandria, La., on behalf of John J. Ward, candidate for mayor in the April 6 primary.

NANCE PLANS DRIVE FOR TEXTILE GROUP

The Committee for Industrial Organization does not enter into the textile situation in the southeast at all, Mr. Nance declared.

He pointed out that the United Textile Workers, the organization which directed the general textile strike of four years ago, under the leadership of Francis J. Gorman, never belonged to the American Federation of Labor and declared there was not now any direct connection between the new Textile Workers' Organization Committee and the Lewis Committee for Industrial Organization.

Asked if it would not be the ultimate aim to absorb the T. W. I. O. into the C. I. O., Mr. Nance said that was a matter for the future on which he could make no prediction.

The T. W. I. O. committee is composed of seven leaders in organized industry, including Hillman and Gorman.

The regional headquarters here will be operated for the time being from Mr. Nance's present offices in the Atlanta National Bank building, with the probability of expansion into larger quarters as the need arises.

"The Textile Workers' Organizing Committee is in complete charge of the campaign and will formulate the entire program establishing the policies to be followed in the organization drive," Mr. Nance stated.

Thomas Kennedy, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, is serving as secretary-treasurer of the committee.

Nance has been for a number of months director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' southern office and will continue to occupy that office, he said yesterday.

It was also understood he is donating his services in the campaign for organization of the textile workers.

"It is the purpose of the leaders of this movement," Nance continued, "to advance standards of the workers in the textile industry and to co-operate

WESTBROOK, WPA AIDE WEDS MRS. COLLINGS

Harry Hopkins Attends Bridegroom at Home Ceremony.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Martha Wootton Collings, 27-year-old Hot Springs divorcee, became the bride here today of Colonel Lawrence Westbrook, 47, chairman of the National WPA Advisory Board.

The Rev. Marion A. Riggs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Turner Wootton.

Harry Hopkins, national relief administrator, attended Westbrook at best man. A score of relatives and intimate friends witnessed the nuptials.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Wootton, the couple planned to leave by motor for a trip through Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and to New York. They said they would stop in Little Rock tonight to greet Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, there to fill a speaking engagement.

with the management in stabilizing both production and costs."

Agreed concerning possibility of strikes in the industry, Nance said it was the hope and desire of the leaders to reach understandings with textile managements which would eliminate the necessity for any industrial controversies in this section, at least.

"The workers have the same interest in protecting their industry as the management," he asserted, "and they naturally desire security of employment and believe the industry can pay fair wages providing competition is held to fair proportions."

IMPORTANT TAX BILLS HIGHLIGHT SESSIONS

die adjournment at midnight Thursday night.

A tax on stock transfers is an entirely new revenue measure estimated by the author, Representative Dugas, of White county, to produce between $750,000 and $1,000,000 annually.

The tax would be three cents per share of stock selling for more than $20, and four cents per share for all stock selling over $20 per share.

Goes To Senate.

The measure now goes to the senate to join other measures designed to raise $14,000,000 in new revenue to finance the Rivers program.

By a vote of 119-0, the house passed a measure outlining the method under which rural electrification associations should be organized.

Sponsored by Representative Parker, of Colquitt county, the bill was based on regulations of the Rural Electrification Administration of the federal government and on the regulations of the Tennessee Valley Association.

Parker said the law would facilitate and simplify organization of the co-operative electric associations for which there now is no specific provision under Georgia statute.

A majority of 103 votes was required for passage of the racing measure in the house and it fell short 11 votes, with 92 for and 84 against.

Representative Dugas, of White county, however, gave notice he would move for reconsideration today.

By voting 75-35 to adopt the report of a conference committee which had worked out a compromise tax scale with conferees representing the senate, the house completed legislative action on the wine tax. The bill now goes to Governor Rivers.

The bill taxes naturally fermented and fortified wines, Whipple, of Bleckley, objected to approval of the compromise report, saying "it means the legalization of cheap liquor."

Disagreeing with senate amendments to the unemployment insurance bill the house named a conference committee composed of Leonard, of Muscogee; Turner, of DeKalb, and Brewster, of Evans.

The house passed a bill by Key, of

Quick Decision Seen On Kennesaw Park

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Representative Malcolm C. Tarver, of Georgia, who fathered the act which created a national memorial military park in the vicinity of Kennesaw mountain, said here today that he was expecting word "almost anytime" from officials of the National Park Service as to whether they would accept a proposal that development of the park proceed without the acquisition of mountain top lands now in dispute.

The park service, he declared, "now has all the facts before them and there is nothing more I can do or say to expedite matters."

Representative Tarver is extremely anxious that the Kennesaw mountain area be set apart by the government "for the benefit and inspiration of the people," but he is fearful that if the Kennesaw Mountain Battlefield Association, which controls the land in dispute, adheres to their original price no national military park will become a reality on the site of one of the major engagements of the War Between the States.

Jasper, and Coxon, of Long, to permit cities to issue revenue certificates against anticipated revenues from public works projects.

In the senate, revenue bill struck a snag when Senator Lindsay moved to table without prejudice the bus-truck tax bill. Lindsay said his action did not necessarily mean death of the bill but that the action was taken to permit printing of the measure.

The chain store tax bill was set for senate consideration today. Also due to reach the senate from committee today is a bill to hike income taxes.

A move to require voters to file written declarations of party affiliations was defeated in the senate but two companion measures to enforce "party regularity" were passed and sent to the house.

Another measure by Senator Atkinson to empower the commissioner and ex-officio judges of Chatham county to create a pension board dependent on the ratification June 8 of a constitutional amendment to that effect was approved by the senate.

Other senate bills passed included: Establishing the open season on deer and wild turkey as November 1 to December 31 instead of the present season of November 15 to January 5 for deer and November 20 to March 1 for turkey.

Fixing an all-inclusive tax of $25 on farm products solely to finance and promote farming and livestock instead of the present rate of $25 for each week on each separate tent or merry-go-round.

Permitting tax collectors, tax commissioners and other county officers to retain as their compensation all fees and costs for services rendered the state.

GUILTY PLEA MADE IN MOYER SLAYING

Hearing Set To Fix Degree of Murder for Youth in Attack Death.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 22.—(UP)—A plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with the murder of 16-year-old Helen Moyer, Coatesville High school sophomore, was entered today by Alexander Meyer, 20.

The plea was accepted by Judge W. Butler Windle in Chester county quarter sessions court. He set April 15 for hearing of testimony to determine the degree of murder.

The youth, on parole from Huntingdon state reformatory, allegedly confessed running the Moyer girl down with his dairy truck, assaulting her while she was unconscious and then hurling her down a 60-foot well.

in Prison.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—The 14-year-old boy who "muffed" a chance to live as a member of the wealthy family was sent to the reform school today by Judge John L. Moore.

The judge told him if he failed to make good at the school in Marianna, the alternative will be five years in the state prison at Raiford.

Charles Francis Coe, author who disclosed he had similarly befriended 30 other boys, intervened for the youth when he was taken into court on a charge of breaking into a boathouse and taking equipment and a sailboat.

The lad was paroled to Coe. But two weeks ago he disappeared, and with him went a $2,000 speedboat, a shotgun, two pistols and $110 in cash. The following day he was apprehended.

Coe declined to press charges against him and did not appear in court today.

HUNGER AIDS IN WAR ON CHINESE RED ARMY

SIANFU, Shensi Province, China, March 22.—(AP)—Widespread famine became an ally of the Nanking government today in its campaign to drive 250,000 Communists from the northern part of this central Chinese province.

Hammed in on three sides by Nanking forces, the Communist army's only escape was into inner Mongolia, where, it was said food is even more scarce than in Shensi.

North Shensi, principally mountainous country, produces barely enough food for the normally small population. The invaders, it was pointed out here, placed too great a burden on the countryside. The provincial government, to forestall possible disorders, appropriated $200,000 for relief.

The provincial famine relief bureau estimated 4,000,000 persons were in acute need of food within an area of 40,000 square miles. It was estimated that 1,000,000 were doomed unless rain comes to "drench" "dust bowl" within a fortnight.

LABOR AT THE CROSSROADS

The grave threat of the sit-down strike to the welfare of the nation is causing increasing concern not only to the government but to the people of the nation.

The question uppermost in the minds and hearts of millions of Americans is, what is to be the result of the unprecedented conditions that have arisen in Detroit? It is a question pregnant with the hopes and fears of a nation which has seen the sit-down in a few months evolve from a technique of profound peril to the peace and well-being of the land.

The law is being flouted by strikers who refuse to respect any authority in any quarter.

The existing crisis threatens not only the nation's legal and social institutions. It threatens also the cause of labor. For there can be no discipline, no hope of orderly procedure, when a handful of disgruntled workers can at any time sit down and halt the operations of an industry. Union leaders are victimized in such circumstances no less than employers.

But it is when a union leader happens to be so arbitrary as Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers that the fate of affairs takes on a truly ominous complexion. Last week, Mr. Martin was invited to a conference in Detroit in connection with the Chrysler situation. He declined to attend, assigning reasons which are no less than astounding.

He suggested that, instead of working for an evacuation of plants,
"those who are interested in law and order use their energies most effectively by helping labor to get rid of the evils at the root of strikes."

What are these evils? Job insecurity and low wages, said Mr.
Martin, arguing that "there can not be a solution to the problem of the present wave of sit-down strikes as long as employers refuse to fulfill their obligations to society by holding to obsolete methods of dealing with their employees."

What he is driving at is that the Chrysler management has refused to recognize the union as the sole bargaining agency for the employes of the company. Under the Wagner law, where a union is designated by a majority of workers to bargain collectively with the employer, the latter is obligated to do so exclusively with the union with respect to wages, hours and working conditions.

The U. A. W. claims to have such a majority in the Chrysler plants.
But it has not sought the relief offered by the Wagner law. It has preferred to use force, thereby eliminating all the steps provided by the national labor relations act.
This is in keeping with the consistent attitude of this union, which first orders a sit-down and then begins to think up some justification for its conduct.

This resort to sabotage can easily become a boomerang. For let public opinion become resentful, let the people cry a plague on methods defying fundamental principles of American life, and organized labor will be resting under as black a cloud as that which darkened the road of British labor after the general strike. It is quite plain that Martin is overplaying his hand.

It is equally plain that when Governor Murphy made his concession to the Flint sit-down strikers, he opened Pandora's box of troubles for himself and the nation. For a while, it looked as though the Governor's unwillingness to enforce a court's order for the evacuation of plants merely made the later adjustment possible. Now it has the appearance of having invited greater evils.

It becomes increasingly certain that congress will take action directed at the sit-down strike or at removing the likelihood of such use of economic force. If unions can be made accountable for violations of contracts, if the device of a breathing spell in advance of a strike, such as the railways have,

could apply to industry in general,
the interest of labor and the welfare of the country would be vastly promoted.

But, even with legislation providing for such assurance, much will depend on the spirit of organized labor and the wisdom of its leaders.
The latter are riding for a ghastly fall unless they exert themselves to curb the insurrectionary mood of their followers. Once public indignation is aroused by tactics alien to the nation's sense of justice and decency, and especially respect for the courts, organized labor, even after having won the right of collective bargaining, will have lost the prize it is seeking.

For it will be suspect, instead of being honored as in recent years.
And its membership will decline, as has happened before. And this will come, because it was too intent upon making effective—

the good old plan,
That he shall take who has the power
And he shall keep who can.

FOR THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

This morning hundreds of enthusiastic Atlantans will head toward the Atlanta Woman's Club for the first of three daily sessions of The Constitution Spring Garden School.
The interest in gardens is one of the finest expressions of modern life and its rapid growth among people of all classes is an indication of a new awakening to natural beauty that bespeaks a spiritual advance to be reckoned with by all students of trends in the world today.

There are still existent lovely gardens both in the old and new worlds that have come down, in all their charm, through centuries.
They were, however, originated chiefly by the few wealthy, the moneyed aristocrats of their age, who could afford to devote the time and expense needed to the creation and upkeep of formal gardens.

Today in the average home the same loveliness is found. The men and women of Atlanta who form the great bulk of population, those who reside in the pleasant little homes that, in the aggregate, make up the city.

They form the greater part of the audiences which attend these periodic garden schools and it is in the small gardens, the flowerbeds measured by a few feet, the little lawns, that the evidence of the teacher's ability to impart horticultural knowledge is to be seen.

By adding thus to the beauty of the quiet residence streets all over the city, these gardening schools contribute greatly to the beauty and happiness of the entire city.

And by this encouragement of the love of nature that is implanted deep in all of us, the sons and daughters of the soil, a real contribution to the ethical and spiritual character of the nation is made.

For a people who make beautiful gardens is a people walking the happy road of peace toward that glad day when all the world shall live in harmony and happiness together.

FIRE, CLEANUP, SMOKE

Efforts under way in Atlanta this week should, by the combination of results, go far to keep losses by fire down to a minimum, improve the appearance of the city, and effect economies for all property owners.

"Fire Prevention and Cleanup Week," which started Sunday, draws public attention to the fire hazard which always exists in places where trash and dirt are allowed to accumulate. Cleanliness and neatness are the greatest foes of fire, and a meticulous care in preventing the accumulation of waste in hidden corners, in basements and in alleys will do much to reduce the danger of the predatory flames.

Likewise interior cleanliness in the buildings and homes of the city will reduce the hazard from fire caused by worn insulation, spontaneous combustion and other causes that annually cause a large part of conflagration loss.

Linked with this double campaign is the distribution of booklets on the proper care of furnaces and heating plants for the summer months while they are in disuse and on the most economical and smoke-free methods of operation during the colder period of the year.

A properly tended, properly kept furnace not only remains longer in service, but it uses less fuel and gives greater heat per dollar expended.

Old-time strike leaders who shouted "Workers, arise!" have altered the technique. The revised watchword is "Brother, pull up a chair."

Smithsonian's Dr. Hrdlicka says a man's head enlarges until he is around forty. Then he sees himself in a candid camera shot.

Then there was the Spaniard who became a veteran of Foreign Wars without leaving town.

If it isn't one thing that delays
a Hapsburg comeback in Austria, it's another. Now they say that Sigmund Romberg hasn't finished the waltz song.

World's Window

BY PIERRE VAN PALESEN.

A Letter From Palestine

BALTIMORE, Md.—"I am seated with about 200 adults and children," wrote Rich Gottger from Palestine, "while their gaze is fixed on a large shed which is also a large hall. It is a large, simple, white, noisy petrol tins and a few benches serve for seats. On the scene are thrown pictures portraying events in Israel's exciting history. In the background, a man in a blue uniform is speaking in a flawless Berlin accent."

Mr. Gottger is writing of a scene in the communal food bar of Naza-ria, the new little Jewish village between Acre and the Syrian border.
The following morning finds the settlers at work. "I see a lawyer from Berlin; a merchant from Basel; a physician's widow from Stuttgart.
The first is carting manure, the second sows lettuce, the third cleans out the fowl houses. Their plots are of varying sizes—some five, some seven, others nine dunams and they are diversely laid out. Even the cottages on each individual holding bear marks of originality. The towers, the walls, the roofs, the pointed gable roof so reminiscent of the German farm houses which not a few of these settlers could previously call their own."

It is remarkable that there is so little of what may be termed oriental, about the place. The picture one sees from the top of the tower is beautiful. Sea and mountains, olive plains and sandhills meet the eye all at once. It is a model landscape, copied, as it were, from a geography textbook. Here and there the strand can be seen several weeks and dunams—a small beginning of a seaside resort to be. Now and then a boat moves slowly across the ocean and disappears behind the chalk cliffs of Ras-el Nakura, the boundary line of Syrian territory. White blends into blue and blue into brown.

The chalk cliffs extend for miles and gradually rise to a high, jagged mountain range, the Lebanon. Green orange groves, distant fields dotted with palm clusters, meet one's eye.
To the south the Carmel stands out like a giant wall in the sea and by winding evening the tens of thousands of twinkling lights under its base reveal the city of Haifa.

The activity and industrious effort is centered around the water-tower from the top of which, a height of 28 meters, everything appears so toy-like in dimensions—gardens and olive plantations, fields and the net of field railways and wagon
running between the vegetable beds—
the asphalt streets—everything that catches the eye. Here and there a chicken runs and a cow grazes;
the net of field railways and wagon
running between the vegetable beds—
the asphalt streets—everything that catches the eye. Here and there a
chicken runs and a cow grazes;

It is a German settlement. It is altogether a pleasing sight. . . . writes
this German settler.

But what does he not do? He does not, is this? That little colony, settled by intellectuals driven out from Germany, has been created out of a poor, marshy land in less than 18 months.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

Treat Yourself to Vitamin B

The British Army ration, as described in an earlier talk, yields 4,000 units and approximately 750 units of vitamin B daily, enough vitamin B, it has been found, to protect soldiers in the tropics from beriberi (multiple neuritis, polyneuritis), but not enough vitamin B to keep them in the peak of possible efficiency, or in the finest fettle. A diet providing only 20 units of vitamin B per hundred calories is inadequate to maintain the nutrition or the highest attainable state of health. To insure optimal nutrition the daily intake of vitamin B should be at least 30 units for every 100 calories. If the average adult daily ration yields 2,750 calories the vitamin B requirement for a day would be 825 units.

The B content of the following items is:
Fresh milk, 300 units per quart. Plain wheat, 60 units per ounce. Pure wheat germ,
1,000 units per ounce. Brewed yeast,
1,000 units per ounce. Dried yeast,
1,000 units per ounce. Bananas, 8 units per ounce.
Graham bread, 40 units per ounce.
White bread, practically none. Whole wheat bread, 400 units per ounce.
Rice, 10 units per ounce. Raisins, 8 units per ounce. String beans, 8 units per ounce. Egg, 10 units per ounce. Rolled oats, 60 units per ounce. Fresh green peas, 100 units per ounce. Tomato juice, 9 units.
Orange juice, 9 units per ounce.

Some characteristic indications of moderate deficiency of vitamin B are weakness and fatigue, loss of interest; generalized tenderness, especially tenderness in the calves; tingling, numbness, burning and other abnormal sensations; stonic constipation (stomach means relaxation, lack of elasticity in the muscle walls of the alimentary tract);
poor digestion and assimilation;
poor circulation.

Where there is a pronounced vitamin
B deficiency the tongue is beefy red, smooth or bald, and perhaps sore or abnormally sensitive to certain foods such as acid fruit. A person whose nutrition is good has a slightly rough tongue (covered with papillae) which is not very red and generally has a slight coat of fur especially toward the back, and shows no marks or indentations of the teeth.

Clinicians who are well informed in the newer knowledge of nutrition and disease find that vitamin B deficiency is a frequent factor of the weakness of the heart (loss of compensation) which hospitalizes many persons; impairment of the muscle efficiency of the heart is a frequent factor of the manifestation in many cases of beriberi (polyneuritis) which is due to a severe deficiency of vitamin B.

Can you tell whether your health suffers from vitamin B deficiency?
Simplest way I know is by taking a handful of pasteurized, dried brewers' yeast tablets daily, and since few if any of us get enough vitamin B from natural food sources, you had better take irradiated yeast—irradiation with ultraviolet imparts vitamin B, as well as the vitamin B already present in such yeast.
I myself like to chew a dozen such tablets at breakfast every morning.
Keeps me in fine fettle.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

PRODUCERS. WASHINGTON, March 22.—The inside job of promoting President Roosevelt's court rejuggle is supposed to be in the hands of a council with such a passion for anonymity that it is entirely invisible.

Practically every government official with political group influence is working on some phase. Visiting an officer at his desk these days, you are likely to find his scratch pad filled with names of prominent men back home, legislators (federal, state and local), even editors and eminent clergy. Each official seems to be responsible for the same groups and localities as in the last presidential campaign.

But the heavy work of stage-managing such things as the senate judiciary committee hearings is apparently in the hands of a small council, on which the most active counselor is Thomas G. Corcoran, who has completely anonymized his real position as a secret secretary to Mr.
Roosevelt by holding a nominal post as "counsel to the RFC." It is Mr.
Corcoran, in conjunction with his friend, Ben Cohen, Democratic Publicist Charles Michelson and staff and others, who is being given credit for having dug up most of those witnesses before the senate committee whose testimony you have been reading.

CASTING. No dearth of witnesses has developed. Mr. Corcoran and his associates are said to have enough waiting around in hotel rooms now to keep the judiciary committee busy without interruption. When the President of Harvard came out against them a few days back, for instance, they had a few college professors ready to run in the committee to offer the same evidence. College professors are easy to get on either side of nearly any question, but what Mr. Corcoran needs are a string of lawyers, judges or ordinary citizens with front page names.

The two best witnesses from the administration standpoint have been Justice Ferdinand Pecora, of the New York state supreme court, and Assistant Attorney General Jackson. That is the trouble. Jackson is being publicly rumored as eventual successor to Attorney General Cummings and Pecora's name has been frequently published as one of Mr. R.'s probable nominees to the supreme court bench, if the President succeeds in adding six more seats to it. William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, another smash witness, needs administration support in his contest against John Lewis (and is due to get it).

It is very difficult for Messrs. Corcoran, Michelson, Ashurst et al. to present big names not closely allied with the administration, especially upon this judicial subject. Most of the bar associations and judiciary appears to be lined up on the other side.

Nevertheless, they have done a good job so far, in the face of these difficulties.

MISGIVINGS. Latest inside checking indicates six weeks more will be required to get the court bill before the senate, and that thirty days more will be spent in debate before the Senate passes it and sends it to the house. Senate action, therefore, is being figured for early June—if nothing happens in the meantime.

Foremost congressional leaders are personally displeased at this prospect. The discussion that is being carried on is bad for the country, in the opinion of many. Every fly-by-night-or-day raller against authority and law seems to accept this golden opportunity to preach doctrines which would be considered inflammatory, if not treasonable, at any other time. For example, the charge is being made daily that judges are tools of Wall Street, that judicial decisions, therefore, should not be obeyed or enforced; that persons who know nothing of law should be appointed to the bench, etc., etc. The refusal of sit-downers to obey court is seen by some loyal friends of Mr. Roosevelt in both the senate and the house as the first result of the agitation by fanatics who have overloaded the Roosevelt court bandwagon. They are frankly afraid of what three months more of debate will do.

A congressman passed around the cloakroom last week an apt quo-tion from Sherman: "The law is or should be our king; we should obey it, not because it meets our approval, but because it is the law and because obedience in some shape is necessary to every system of civilized government." Anything else is chaos.

TIP. Authorities here who are thinking along that line would like to get the issue cleared up one way or another before fanatics take it entirely out of Mr. Roosevelt's hands. There may or may not be a sudden move developing shortly.

Ambition eats, a canker
At the young, unbroken heart,
While age for rest doth hanker
And scorns the brush upstair.

Unappreciated

In-convenience.
He was waiting on the corner for a street car, to come to town in the morning and start his day's work.
Reading his Constitution as he waited.

Along came a motorist, one of those kindly, thoughtful fellows, always trying to do a good deed in the world and bring sunshine into some other life.

The motorist indicated he was going to draw up to the curb and offer the waiting man a lift to town. So the waiter turned his back and went on reading his paper. It was interesting and he wished to conclude his study of the day's news, editorials and features while he rode to town. And how he could never do it, an automobile with conversational, even though stranger, host.

But the generosity of the fellow in the auto could not be denied. He overtook the waiter, and he hailed the standee with an invitation to ride.

So the standee couldn't be rude and climbed in.

Tiring Walk.
The driver chattered all the way to town and several times narrowly mis-advised accident, due to his inattention to his job.

Finally he reached a point some nine blocks from the destination of his involuntary passenger.
"Well," he announced cheerfully,
"this is where I park. Glad to have you. I'll pick you up again some other morning."

The passenger grunted, mumbled to himself, "Not if I can help it," and set out for the nine-block walk to his own office. He was crestfallen without convenient car service at the moment.
He was already tired when he reached his desk, his paper was unread, his nerves were on edge and his stenographer wondered what was the matter with the boss and, later in the day, went a little and decided to resign from his position.

Two hundred and fifty of us fine youngsters as there are in the state of Georgia are enrolled in the Forestry School at the University of Georgia in Athens. We are all of us, of course, the importance of conserving our forests and thrilled with the opportunity to learn how to turn the timber wealth of the state into a profitable and continuing crop.

The school, while one of the best in the south, is handicapped by insufficient funds. Three of our best faculty members have left this year, to accept more lucrative posts in other institutions and the university had to let them go, for lack of funds to meet their salaries.

At a meeting of faculty and students of the Forestry school, the other day, it was pointed out that the school enrolled students into the university treasury, in tuition fees, approximately $30,000 a year. And they are allotted back again, for entire upkeep of the school, only $14,000.

The school is fair.
Federal forestry authorities say, if the Forestry school at Athens was just a little better equipped, a little more generously funded, it would be much better trained when they go looking for forestry jobs after graduation.

Now that the state legislature has been so generous in its appropriation to the state institutions, it is probable the board of regents will be able to rectify this apparent injustice to the Forestry school and the 250 Georgia boys who are striving to learn a splendid profession there.
The Forestry school is an important study as any, today. Old-time alumni of the university should discuss their minds that it is, in any case, a "forestry" school. It is a fact, while the possible exception of War Souvenirs 22.—The Americans are the most enthusiastic souvenir hunters of the great war, and a great aggregate tonnage of shell cases, tin hats, enemy cap-buttons, iron crosses, spike helmets and all such brave, pathetic junk still clutters the attics of the veterans everywhere. There is scarcely a village green or courthouse lawn, but has its captured field piece, machine-gun or minnie, the weight and caliber of the prize varying according to the size of the town and the political influence of its congressman at the time of the distribution.

But of all the purely sentimental relics which this country derived from the war for democracy there is none so interesting as a rather compact batch of documents reposing in a strong room on the ground floor of the treasury building on the Pennsylvania avenue side. These are the
I. O. U.'s, the bonds given in the late gallant allies of the U. S. A. in return for the billions of dollars of American money which saw them through the contest and the reconstruction.

The bill is approximately $12,000, 000,000, and generally recognized as a bad debt by now, so the bonds have somewhat the same character as those soap wrapper marks which the Germans printed by the billion in the days when they were going through the wringer of bankruptcy.

If this country were to take a bath, as the saying goes, and its assets were set down on paper for the information of the creditors, those bonds would be put in as little or no more importance, because if a like situation ever should arise again it could be to the point to take them out of their envelopes, photograph them and print the pictures in the papers.

Savants of Harvard Law School Oppose President's Court Plan

American Governmental System Is Issue, Say Three Faculty Members, Declaring Proposal Would Lead to Substitution of One Supreme Will for Supreme Court.

Condemning President Roosevelt's proposed supreme court change, three graduates of the Harvard law school, class of 1900, have addressed an open letter to The Constitution, giving their views on the President's plan and their interpretation of his actions and words.

The three Harvard graduates, now members of the faculty of the Harvard law school, are Edward H. Warren, Joseph Warren and Morton C. Campbell.

Four years after these three faculty members earned their law degrees at Harvard, President Roosevelt earned his A. B. at the university. Later, the President was awarded a law degree at Columbia University in New York.

CORN BELT IS WARNED ON LARD SUBSTITUTES

S. C. Solon Tells Iowa Legislature South Will Retaliate on Tax.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—A representative from the cotton-growing south warned legislators of the corn and hog belt today retaliation would follow enactment of state legislation placing special levies on lard substitutes, made principally from cottonseed oil.

Representative Fulmer, of Orangeburg, S. C., said a bill is now pending before the Iowa legislature providing an inspection fee and excise tax of 5 cents a pound on such compounds.

He said such a tax would drive cottonseed oil shortages from the Iowa market.

Fulmer declared the balance in trade in farm products between the corn and hog states and south is overwhelmingly in favor of the former, but if necessary the south is capable of producing agricultural needs it now buys from those states.

"You are only adding fuel to the fire when your state legislature proceeds to pass legislation denying any of the farm products of the south to be shipped into your states," he said.

"You remember two of us can play this game," he warned.

GREETERS WILL FETE ALABAMA MEMBERS

Officers of the Alabama charter, Hotel Greeters of America, and of the Alabama Greeters' Auxiliary, will be honor guests of the Georgia Chapter No. 49, at 8 o'clock tonight at a dinner-dance at Corowanna lodge.

Report of a South Atlantic Greeter conference, held in Greensboro, N. C., over the week end will be made by Harry Richardson, president, and Harvey Persons, secretary of Georgia Greeters.

Greeter chapters of southeastern states are planning a series of good-will gatherings for interchange of fellowship with a view to increasing the south's tourist and vacation traffic through co-operation of hotel men, the Atlanta leaders announced.

KNOXVILLE STUDENTS VISITORS AT TECH HIGH

Kenneth Hatcher and Nell Hall, leaders of student government in the Knoxville High school, yesterday were visitors at Tech High school.

Hatcher is chairman of the monitoring department and Miss Hall is secretary of the student government. Accompanying them was Helen Galbreath, faculty advisor.

A driver, and a driver prepared to use a whip if necessary. Where is the driver to be found? Where is the whip to be found? In his Victory Banquet address, the President revealed himself. Let not your heart be troubled. I will be the driver; I will supply the whip.

The reaction of the country was not what the President had expected. He realized too late the implications of his parable. He sought to explain it away. But he did protest too much. By his own parable shall ye judge him.

In the name of American Democracy the President is proposing something which will undermine the foundations of American Democracy. We have now the Supreme Court of the United States. The adoption of the President's proposals would swiftly lead to the substitution of the supreme will of a single individual.

Problems we have, but the way to solve them is not by declaring American Democracy bankrupt and passing to what would be, in substance, a new system of government.

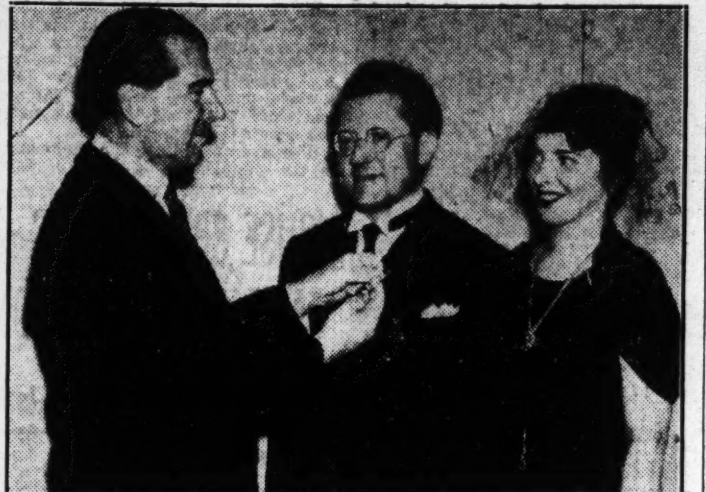

Very truly yours,

Attempt to refloat her have been temporarily abandoned.

FARM AID BLOCKED BY COURT—WALLACE RICHMOND, Va., March 22.—(AP) Secretary Wallace told a farm audience tonight that recent decisions of the supreme court blocked attempts of the Roosevelt administration to erect "necessary safeguards for agriculture, labor and industry."

The cabinet member addressed the annual meeting of the Virginia Farm Bureau. His remarks were broadcast. Wallace said changes in the supreme court and federal judiciary proposed by President Roosevelt provided a "very simple and very practical" method of assuring progress for national welfare.

"Nobody claims it is unconstitutional," he said. "It simply proposed to add new blood to the supreme court; enough younger men who have been out in the hurly-burly of a change-ing world to bring the majority opinions of the court into line with the attitude of the people as expressed in the election. That is all."

NEW TANGLE IS SEEN IN DIVORCE FOR WALLY

Lawyer Writes Newspaper Letter Saying Virginia Decree Invalid.

(Copyright, 1937, by United Press.) LONDON, March 22.—(UP)—British legal experts warned tonight that Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's first divorce, obtained in the United States ten years ago, may be invalid under British law.

The new complication, they said, may jeopardize the early marriage of the former Baltimore girl and former King Edward if the case is brought into British courts.

Arthur Berriedale Keith, outstanding authority on constitution law, was responsible for the latest surprise development in the "world's greatest romance." He wrote to the Edinburgh Scotsman saying that parliament might be obliged to enact special legislation legalizing Mrs. Simpson's first divorce.

She divorced Earl Winfield Spencer, United States naval officer, at Warrenton, Va., in 1927.

A specialist in English "family law" told the United Press that Keith's disclosures were legally sound. "Thinka Divorce Invalid."

He predicted that British law would not accept Mrs. Simpson's first divorce as valid.

If Mrs. Simpson's first divorce were held invalid, her second marriage also would be declared illegal and automatically be annulled. She, therefore, would have to obtain a new divorce from her first husband in England before she could marry the Duke of Windsor under English law.

The warnings that the divorce obtained in the little Virginia mill town, not far from Washington, D. C., might not be valid were based on the fact that British courts recognize only divorces granted in courts of a state in which the husband lives at the time the suit is filed.

Spencer, they said, appeared not to have been a Virginia resident.

The expert said that distinction must be drawn between the willingness of British registrars to solemnize marriage in which one of the parties previously was divorced in Reno or some city of "quick divorce" and the attitude of British courts when confronted with the validity of such decrees.

"FIGHT CANCER" BOOTHS FEATURE LOCAL DRIVE Women workers in Atlanta aiding in the city's "Fight Cancer Week" campaign entered on the second day of their drive yesterday, establishing booths for collection of funds to aid in combating the disease.

Twenty-four booths have been placed in various parts of the city with members of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs in charge.

Talks on cancer control are being given twice daily this week and field workers will appear at luncheons of men's civic clubs during the week to enlist their support in the campaign.

Many women are registering in the drive, according to Mrs. George Ripple Jr., president of the federation.

The drive is being conducted by the American Society for Control of Cancer through the fifth district woman's field army in Atlanta.

Wilting Pelham Due In Court Again Today

A three-cornered verbal fencing match is in prospect this morning in federal district court when three old antagonists tangle over the bill of exceptions to be sent to the United States circuit court of appeals for consideration in connection with the conviction of Robert E. S. Lee, the wilting Earl of Pelham.

Several weeks ago a hearing was held in Augusta before Federal Judge W. H. Barrett, who presided at the Lee trial here, resulting in Barrett's ordering Lee and the government to "get together" on the bill to be sent to the appeals court. Lee had filed his own inimitable memory. Last night, far into the night, Lee and Assistant United States District Attorney M. Neil Andrews conferred over the data to be submitted to Judge Barrett here this morning.

The final outcome was still in doubt. Judge Barrett, Andrews and Lee will again tangle law and procedure.

NORMANDIE CLAIMS CROSSING RECORD

Liner Reports It Bettered Queen Mary's Average Speed.

PARIS, March 22.—(AP)—The French line announced tonight the liner Normandie had set a new east-bound trans-Atlantic speed mark with an average speed of 30.99 knots from Ambrose light to Bishop's rock.

The Normandie's performance bettered the speed mark of 30.63 knots set by the British Queen Mary by almost .4 of a knot, the French line said.

The Normandie, which left Ambrose light at 11 a. m. Thursday, passed Bishop's rock at 8:45 p. m. tonight (12:45 p. m. Atlanta time).

Line officials said the Normandie covered 2,976 miles in four days, six minutes and 25 seconds. The Queen Mary, they reported, crossed from Ambrose light to Bishop's rock in three days, 23 hours, 57 minutes on a 2,939-mile voyage.

The mark claimed by the line was computed on the average speed rather than the elapsed time of the voyage.

Poll Tax Contestant Sentenced as Forger

The man who first broke into print with his suit contesting the poll tax law, now pending before the United States supreme court, was found guilty in Fulton superior court yesterday on four counts of forgery and sentenced by Judge Paul S. Etheridge Sr. to serve four to six years on the chain gang.

He is M. R. Breedlove, who was accused of forgery while soliciting advertising for a locally printed justice of the peace weekly, Solicitor Quincy Arnold, who prosecuted the case, said.

Breedlove some years ago filed suit in superior court alleging a man did not have to pay poll tax to vote. Judge John D. Humphries held the poll tax must be paid and was upheld by the state supreme court. Breedlove, through his lawyer, then carried the suit to the supreme court of the United States where it is now pending.

OFFICER ACQUITTED ON BEATING CHARGE

Policeman Cleared in Fulton Court of Assault on Prisoner.

City Policeman C. D. Hardeman, bound over from municipal court on charges of assault and battery of a prisoner, was acquitted in Fulton criminal court yesterday.

James Hall, a negro prisoner Hardeman had arrested on charges of stealing coal, swore out a warrant alleging the policeman beat him with a blackjack. The policeman contended he did not strike the negro and had not carried a blackjack in more than a year.

Fellow officers, who booked the negro at the city jail, declared the negro did not appear to have been beaten.

In binding the patrolman over to the higher court, Judge Luther Ross, of municipal court, had declared policemen have no right to try cases on the streets and that their duty ended when they arrested the prisoner.

BEHIND THE Magic OF THE HOT WATER FAUCET

Is the scientific miracle of Insulation, which makes it possible to enjoy your Gas Automatic Water Heater FOR THE SAKE OF ECONOMY.

Your modern automatic gas water heater is filled with steaming hot water—almost boiling water if you like. Yet when you place your hand upon it from the outside, it hardly feels warm. For the miracle of modern insulation makes it possible almost to completely imprison the heat so that only an insignificant amount is lost.

Because you get it all without waste, it is possible with an automatic gas water heater to have constant hot water service, in nearly every case for less, gallon for gallon, than by clumsy and troublesome methods. For there is no waste with an automatic gas water heater, such as is unavoidable with less convenient methods of obtaining hot water, and the saving pays for its wonderful convenience.

That's the Magic behind the hot water faucet!

THERE'S MORE MAGIC IN OUR PRICES AND TERMS, which lets you own the most modern type of automatic gas water heater before you realize that you have been paying for it. A telephone call will bring full particulars. Ask about our special trade-in allowance for your old water heater.

HALF BILLION FOR NAVY IS VOTED BY SENATE; 79 NEW SHIPS PLANNED

$29,186,000 earmarked for Planes; Bill Goes to Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(UP)—The senate today passed the $29,186,000 "big navy" appropriation bill, providing $130,000,000 for ship construction and $29,186,000 for new airplanes during the 1938 fiscal year.

The measure was approved 64 to 11 as administration forces beat down protests that the money for shipbuilding puts this country into a naval race with Great Britain. It now goes to conference with the house to iron out minor differences.

Johnson Urges War Tax.
Meanwhile, the house military affairs committee heard General Hugh S. Johnson urge approval of the Hill-Sheppard bill giving the President dictatorial powers to regulate prices and draft the nation's industrial, financial and manpower resources into government service in case of war.

He said that about 10 per cent of the industries would not co-operate with the government during the World War and that the government needed power provided by the drastic measure to "twist their tales and keep these chisellers in line." It calls for a 95 per cent tax on excess war-time profits.

The navy supply bill appropriates $3,707,620 less than approved by the house but leaves intact funds to carry forward the ship and aircraft construction program designed to bring the navy up to treaty strength by 1942.

79 New War Vessels.
The $130,000,000 provided for ship construction includes $15,179,000 for continuing work on two new $800,000, 6000 ton battleships expected to get under way during the current fiscal year, and $6,926,000 for laying down eight new destroyers and four submarines. The remainder will finance continued work on 79 other vessels.

The $29,186,000 aircraft procurement program provides for 397 new airplanes and two non-rigid airships during the next fiscal year and is designed to give the navy 1,855 planes in operation by July, 1938.

Senatorrazier, Republican, North Dakota, led opposition to a "small navy" bloc. He charged the administration's billion-dollar national defense program—including a forthcoming measure expected to provide more than $400,000,000 for the army next year—violated this country's policy of maintaining armed forces solely for defensive purposes.

REPEAL REFERENDUM APPROVED BY SENATE

anticipated from the bill's provisions for licenses and gallonage taxes. "If moral reformers, however, would favor this bill," the senator also said, "because it will reduce the number of places of sale."

Senator Harrison, who both opened and closed argument for the opposition, referred to liquor as "public enemy No. 1, with no standing in organized society."

"We have just passed a social security law," he continued, "and now we seek to pass this social insecurity bill."

On presentation of the bill for consideration Senator Millican moved for adoption by sections and each section was read and subjected to amendment.

Senate Leaders, Pro and Con, in Repeal Bill Debate

Final guns in the Georgia senate's debate on the repeal referendum bill were fired last night by Senator James J. Flynn, 26th district, for repeals and Senator Walter M. Harrison, 17th, for opponents of the bill. Photos above show (left) Senator Flynn and Senator Harrison.

Temperance Teaching Urged.
Senator Flynn, closing for advocates of the measure, declared that better results would be obtained "if ministers would spend the same effort they now put into chasing the rainbow of prohibition into teaching temperance on every hand."

"Regardless of what this bill will do, it can't possibly be as iniquitous as the conditions now existing under the guise of dry old Georgia," said the Griffin man.

Senator Elbert Forrester, forty-fourth district, pointed to evils of drink and appealed for senators to vote the bill down for the influence such a course would have on youth of the state.

"I've lived true to the teachings of my infancy to leave liquor alone," he said, "and I'm no sissy, either."

Other speakers for the bill included Senators Harrell, Shedd, Pope, Williams, Ennis and Lindsay. Opposition speakers included Senators Hardman, Pruett, Allen, Holmes and Autman.

Senator E. E. Jones, Pendling, the fifth district, spoke against evils of liquor and the liquor traffic and recited the history of the liquor question in Georgia politics, saying the people had voted six times against it. He voted for the bill.

H. A. MAIER COMPLETES 50 YEARS IN BUSINESS

Employees Honor Head of Jewelry Firm on Golden Jubilee.

H. A. Maier Sr., celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as active head of the Maier-Berkele jewelry firm yesterday, his 25 employees presenting him with a large desk radio and a basket containing 50 Colored Glissou roses, to mark the golden jubilee.

On top of the radio was a gold plate with the following inscription: "Presented to H. A. Maier Sr., by his employees in honor of his golden anniversary as president of Maier & Berkele. For 50 years he has displayed the finest qualities an employer can possess—honesty—fairness—consideration."

The presentation was made by T. B. Lilepage, vice president.

Among those present was Joseph Jansen, who has been with Maier since the firm was established in 1887.

Mr. Maier is 73 years old. He first became connected with the firm when he purchased a half interest in the A. L. Delkin company. In 1890 John Berkele purchased Delkin's interest and since that time the firm's name has remained unchanged.

The average tenure of employment in the organization is over 19 years.

HOUSE SPEEDS BILLS AT MORNING SESSION

Debate Limited To Clear Decks for Tax and Repeal Measures.

Working to clear the decks of pending senate bills to get a gangway to the tax measures and the liquor repeal referendum bill, the Georgia senate spent yesterday morning grinding out business with a minimum of debate.

A substitute for the house truck and bus maintenance tax, predicted by Senator J. Everett Millican, Fulton, to produce $2,270,000 a year in revenue, was reported out by the motor vehicles committee.

Senator Millican said the house measure was calculated to bring in $3,000,000. The senate substitute scaled down rates in the house bill, providing for tax by weight of vehicles instead of seating capacity.

The bill was ordered tabled with the understanding that the house bill will come up for passage today.

Senator J. H. Ennis, Baldwin, chairman of the finance committee, said the income tax bill would be reported out sometime today.

A constitutional amendment, to authorize counties to levy taxes for paying for farm and home improvement, was passed 39 to 5.

Hospitals will be permitted to form associations for group hospitalization of members under a house bill, placing such associations under the insurance commissioner and the public welfare department. Several amendments will be presented to the bill.

Agreements to house amendments to the Savannah municipal code bill were voted on motion of Senator David Atkinson, Chatham, author of the bill.

The Georgia and the other would provide for challenging voters in general elections to make them swear they will vote for their own party candidates.

Other senate bills passed yesterday included those to:

Permit the Public Service Commission to allow installation of "trackless trolleys."

Provide the chief clerk in the comptroller general's office might act in his stead during his illness. Comptroller General Harrison was recently operated on for appendicitis.

Establish the open season on deer and wild turkey as November 1 to December 31. The present open season on deer is November 1 to January 5, and on wild turkey, November 20 to March 1.

Fix an all-inclusive tax of $25 on fairs conducted solely to advance and promote farming and livestock. The present law fixes a $25 tax for each week on each separate tent or merry-go-round.

Permit tax collectors, tax commissioners, and other county officers to retain as their compensation all fees and costs for services rendered the state in connection with the tax law.

Exclude counties of over 200,000 population.

The senate adopted a house bill by Representative Grayson, of Chatham county, permitting counties and cities to condemn roadways to a width of 200 feet.

Special Soil Bill Provides for Vote By State Farmers on Conservation

A special soil conservation bill under which farmers in any district of the state can vote to set up a soil conservation district to co-operate with the federal government and to coordinate all soil conservation activities in the district has passed the Georgia house of representatives and awaits action by the senate.

As explained by J. G. Liddell, state co-ordinator of the Federal Soil Conservation Service, the bill sets up machinery through which Georgia can comply with the federal soil conservation act and get assistance in setting up and conducting soil conservation demonstration projects.

The conservation service is now conducting demonstration projects at Athens, Americus, Gainesville, LaGrange and Rome, but Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has made it clear that no new projects will be started in states that have not passed laws similar to the pending Georgia bill.

The bill was passed the house after a state soil conservation committee, composed of the Governor, the director of the agricultural extension service of the College of Agriculture, the director of the Georgia Experiment Station at Griffin and the director of the Coastal Plains Experiment Station at Tifton. It carries no appropriation.

The committee, Liddell added, cannot set up a soil conservation district until it has held a public hearing in the district, and a majority of the landowners in the district have voted favorably in a special referendum. After a district is set up the farmers in the district elect three members of the district supervisory board and the state committee would appoint two, who might be the county agent, a terracing expert or anyone else.

The bill gives the farmers in a district power to set up land use regulations, but before a regulation is adopted the landowners in the district must vote on it. A majority of them must favor it, and the district supervisory board and the state committee must approve the regulation. Regulations will be binding on all farmers in the district. The district can be set up and farm assistance and demonstration work proceed in the district without any land use regulations.

A similar bill recently became law in Arkansas, and similar soil conservation bills are pending in a number of states. President Roosevelt recently requested all governors to co-operate in enacting such state soil conservation laws to comply with the federal act.

NAZIS BAN COMMENT ON LETTER OF POPE

The foreign office was represented as particularly irritated by implied attacks in the editorial that treaties and agreements can be changed at will.

German authorities admitted they were taken by surprise, and that they learned the encyclical had been read only after newspaper asked for comment.

Like many priests, officials indicated they first thought the encyclical referred to was the recent one on Communism.

Germany's secret police were reported catching persons they suspected of delivering excerpts of the papal letter to foreign correspondents.

The reich government, according to foreign office circles, does not want the odium of outright cancellation. Catholic circles point out that the Vatican was the first great power to give the Nazi regime international standing by signing the concordat, after which the encyclical had been read only after newspaper asked for comment.

MILK CONTROL BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE

New Act Must Be Backed
By Producers Before It Becomes Operative.

A bill permitting the establishment of minimum prices for milk was passed by the house of representatives yesterday and transmitted to the senate.

The act will become effective by sections of the state only upon a majority vote of milk producers and distributors. Control would be by "milk sheds," which would be established by the Milk Control Board.

Consideration of the bill brought remarks from several members of the Committee on Agriculture. Columbus Roberts was opposed to it.

Cochran, of Thomas county, answering a question from Jones, of Brantley, to the effect that "can not this house pass a bill without Mr. Roberts' consent?" asserted:

"If the report is true, it is eminently unfair for Mr. Roberts to come in this house and lobby against this bill."

Cochran, along with Batchelor, of Putnam, was author of the measure. He said further that a board had been suggested to administer the act instead of the commissioner of agriculture because "the dairy interests thought it would be unfair to have it under the direction of a man who produces one-fifth of the milk in Georgia."

Roberts heads the state confederation of milk producers, he explained. Howard, of Chattahoochee, read a letter to the house in which he quoted Roberts as saying:

"In my opinion there is no emergency in the milk industry."

"In addition to this, the bill is illegal in the opinion of the attorney general, in that it seeks to delegate powers that the general assembly alone have."

Proponents of the measure indicated the chief purpose of the bill was to increase the price of milk paid to producers who sell their milk in bulk to creameries or other distributors.

A provision of the act would require that such producers be paid at least 50 per cent of the ultimate retail price of the milk.

The board to control the industry and administer the act would be composed of the commissioner of agriculture, one distributor of milk, two producer-distributors (dairy men who sell their milk at retail directly to the consumer), and one consumer.

Establishment of milk sheds would be on a basis of the major markets in the state and the natural areas from which the milk is shipped in to them by producers.

The act declares an emergency existing in the production and distribution of milk, and would be ineffective after August 15, 1941.

The fixing of prices would be by the board after public hearings.

SECOND ENCYCLICAL ACCUSES NAZIS
VATICAN CITY, March 22.—(P)—Pope Pius XI, in biting words, reproached Germany today for "a condition of spiritual oppression such as never before has been witnessed," and accused the third reich of destroying its 1933 concordat with the Vatican.

An encyclical, the second such message in a week, referred "unmistakably" to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and assailed the religious tenets of Nazism. Dated March 14, Passion Sunday, the papal letter was read in German Catholic churches yesterday and made public here today.

Vatican prelates said it was evident Pius had come to the end of his patience over the church-state situation in Germany "after long suffering."

"The point has now been reached," he said, "where there is a question of the final and highest end, of salvation or perdition."

Prelates saw in the Pope's opening sentences, which expressed hope of "true peace" between Nazism and the church, the possibility that even now there need not be an open breach between Germany and the Holy See.

Should relations be ruptured, however, they said Pius' words left no doubt the Vatican was prepared to fight atheism with all the spiritual strength of the church.

EUROPE WAR MOVES ARE SOLVING PROBLEM OF U. S. GRAIN SURPLUS

Prospected Harvesting Increase Fails To Depress Wheat Values.

(Copyright, 1937, by United Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Warlike preparations in Europe are solving this country's surplus wheat problem, at least temporarily. Agriculture Department officials declared tonight.

Heavy exports are going to Europe daily as prices in American markets swing back and forth with the general trend ever upward. The rise in quotations is counter to the expected increase in production this year, but other factors have counteracted this influence, officials said.

Department experts believe unless unfavorable weather is again a factor this summer, wheat harvesting will be far in excess of the average annual consumption of 825,000,000 bushels.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said a yield of 1,000,000,000 bushels could be conceivably expected. The heavy demand for exports and the low yield in the southern hemisphere have combined with the low carryover to create a buyers' market.

This change in psychology, officials say, is reflected in the shortening of the spread between cash and September future quotations. This was close to a 20-cent differential more than a month ago but now the figure approaches 15 cents.

Expect Price to Continue.

This indicates, experts say, that buyers of current futures feel that the price will continue fairly high. Wheat values on world markets today jumped almost 6 cents a bushel, in some cases breaking 11-year records.

However, heavy selling forced prices down before the close. Chicago futures closed 7.8 to 7.8 cents higher than Saturday's finish. May closed at $1.39 3/8.

Experts predict that if the abandonment of winter wheat should turn out as anticipated and if the prospective acreage of spring wheat is actually harvested, then the total wheat acreage for harvest in the United States this year would be approximately 67,500,000. This estimate is nearly 50 per cent more than the total acreage harvested in 1936, a drought year, and more than 10 per cent above the five-year average for 1925-32.

Fright chills ran down the spines of some persons in the section around 323 Auburn avenue yesterday. In cleaning the basement of the house at this address, several coffins were found in one corner. In one was the skeleton shown above. H. B. Burdett is holding it. Investigation revealed the skeleton at one time belonged to a doctor, as in the skull is a ring by which it can be hung. A candidate for The Constitution's photo-tip award phoned in this picture tip.

This little alligator has lost its mamma. He was found yesterday hissing his distress in H. B. Guthrie's garage, 856 State street. Guthrie is shown above holding the alligator, which is about 18 inches long. Feeling sorry for the homeless animal, Guthrie built him a home in a large washbowl. Rocks were placed in the tub so the alligator can get out of the water and bask in the sun when he so desires. Guthrie says it will make a nice pet. This was another photo tip.

Ex-Slave, 113, Sent to Prison Camp, But Only To Provide Him a Home

James Moore Entertains Fellow-Prisoners and Guards With Tales of Old Plantation Days Before General Sherman's Troops "Lowed We-uns Wuz Free."

By LEE ROGERS.
A 113-year-old ex-slave, serving a three-month sentence at Bellwood prison camp on vagrancy charges, yesterday told fellow prisoners and his guards of Easter and Christmas celebrations on the old plantation before "Gen'l Sherman's troops 'lowed we-uns wuz free."

James Moore, the prisoner, has pleasant memories of the old slave days. At least then he didn't get put in jail for picking up paper—even if it was to build fires, he declared.

Easter Sunday on the old plantation of his master, William (Bud) Yearly, four miles from the present location of Athens, in Clarke county, was remembered as one of the Sunday days the darky went to church. At that time in his life, Uncle Jim was not interested in the meetings as "de Lord didn't manifest Himself to me." That didn't come until he was much older, about 26, Uncle Jim said.

"De Lord 'd ha' pretty singin' I reckon," he added.

Christmas was the day he recalled vividly. That was the day his "darkest" little wife and big "uns" came up to the big white house. There was a present for each and every one of the 200 slaves, Uncle Jim said.

"Massa give us a drink of liquor on dat day. Dat was de day we looked to."

Asked what he had to eat for Christmas dinner, Uncle Jim rolled his eyes, shuffled about on his crippled legs and said:

"Prais de Lord, bossman, we uns needed no food on Christmas—we wuz full of liquor."

Uncle Jim was a field hand. Just a field hand who loved the cotton and corn fields, he said. That was the reason he gave for staying on the farm after the general's men told him he was free and to go his way.

Uncle Jim said his mother got a little farm and he helped her run it—when she could make him work.

As long as the work was in the cotton fields, he didn't mind, he said.

Did he see Sherman? "Why dat was de man who set dem free." But later he admitted it was only a part of the northern army and not the general himself that he saw.

Uncle Jim is not sure of two things. His exact age and exactly who his master was. His memory has gone a little back on him in his century of life. Guards say he is 116 years old, prison records say 96, court records 94. Uncle Jim says 113.

His early years were spent in the corn and cotton fields where no one would tell him his age, he said.

He knew his master's plantation was on the Danville road out from Athens. He was called "Massa Bud." But, as for the last name, the closest he would come was "Yearly." He doesn't read or write, he reminded his audience, which by this time had increased to some 15 or so.

Aided by Red Cross. Uncle Jim says he has lived in Atlanta at a room furnished him by the Red Cross. He's too old to work, he will remind you. He was just picking up some paper to make a fire—for it was cold—when a policeman told him to come along to jail, he contends.

Religion is his favorite topic. The Lord has manifested Himself to Uncle Jim three times, he shouted. The first time was when he was about 26 years old.

"De Lord cum down to me and

HEYWARD APPOINTED FORESTRY DIRECTOR

Savannah Man Chosen by Governor on Advice of Dr. Charles Herty.

Frank Heyward Jr., of Savannah, now on the staff of the federal forest experiment station at Lake City, Fla., yesterday was appointed director of forestry in the new natural resources department, effective May 1.

Governor Rivers announced the appointment, and Heyward's acceptance and said the new forester was named "on the recommendation and urgent request of Dr. Charles Herty."

Rivers said Herty, noted for his scientific work in developing broader uses for southern pines, regarded Heyward as "the best qualified man for this job in the south."

Heyward said at the Governor's office:

"We hope that with the co-operation of all industries in the state interested in forestry, we will be able to take care of our forest resources to the best interests of all."

H. D. Story Jr., of Albany, now acting director of the forestry division, and R. D. Franklin, of Eastman, will be assistants to Heyward, Rivers said.

B. M. Lufburrow, former state forester, had been mentioned in political circles as a probable appointee to the post Heyward received.

Mr. Bird moved to Atlanta from Chicago in 1907 and soon became a leading figure in the iron and welding business. He is credited with bringing the first welding equipment in the southeast to Atlanta while serving as superintendent of the Southern Iron and Equipment Company.

He organized the Bird-Wilcox Company and was vice president of the welding and equipment firm until 1919. The following year he organized the Bird-Potts Company, a similar firm, and served as president and treasurer until the time of his death.

His home was at 650 East Morning-side drive.

Adams was stabbed Saturday night in a lunchroom at 248 Fair street, S. E. Witnesses told police he was followed into the lunchroom by a man and slapped without warning. When Adams protested, the stranger stabbed him, they said.

Police are holding a man listed as Jack Saul, of a Tye street address, on suspicion of murder in connection with the stabbing.

Matt Leonard, Head Keeper at Zoo, May Learn Lion Cubs' Secret Today

Meanwhile Many Atlanta Children Are Sending in Eight Names for Entry in Lion-Naming Contest of Constitution.

By THE LION EDITOR.
News is stirring for lion namers of Atlanta and Fulton county, out at the Grant park zoo.

Keepers at the zoo yesterday hinted "Uncle Matt" Leonard, head keeper, might have a surprise tomorrow for school children of the city and county who are entering The Constitution's Lion-Namers' contest.

Perhaps Uncle Matt plans to make an attempt at finding out how many boy cubs and how many girl cubs there are in Mama Martha Lion's litter of four babies. Perhaps Mama Martha has reached the stage where she will not kill her cubs if someone enters the cage.

That, you know, is the reason the keepers have had to refrain from trying to get Martha to divulge her secret. If a mother lion thinks someone is trying to harm her babies she will kill them. That's a funny thing to do, but Uncle Matt says it is a habit with lions.

But perhaps the big secret will get out tomorrow. Be sure to watch tomorrow's paper to see.

Many Entering.
In the meantime, more school children are sending in their entries in the lion-naming contest by listing four names for boy cubs and four for girl cubs. In this way, any circumstance will be taken care of. Just put your favorite names at the top of the list and the judges will start at the top and consider as many of your names in each list as apply, when they find out how many lions of each sex there are in the litter.

But remember to include a short essay of 50 or 100 words with your entry, telling why you selected the names. The reasons you give for the names you submit may cause the judges to consider them very good, but if you don't include your reasons, they may never occur to the judges why you chose the names.

First prize in the lion-namers' contest is $10, which goes to the champion lion-namer in Atlanta and Fulton county. Second prize is $5 and third prize is $2.50.

Equal Chance to All.
Everyone still has an equal chance to win one of the prizes with a list of names submitted before the contest closes Friday. Entries already have come in from Tech High, Lee Street, Peoples Street, Formwalt, Maddox, O'Keefe and Slaton schools, and the mailman every day brings in more entries.

Be sure he brings one in from you before the contest closes. Just ordinary names like Leo and Numa won't win any prizes, but clever and cute names, or names that have a special meaning, are sure to carry off the prize money.

So go ahead and send in your list of eight names now and perhaps tomorrow morning we will have the big news of Mama Martha's secret.
Address your entries to the Lion Editor, Atlanta Constitution. Only one entry from each contestant will be considered.

DUCE BACK IN ITALY; WAR CHARGE IS DENIED

Austrian Chancellor Plans 'Vacation' Visit to Rome After Easter.

ROME, March 22.—(P)—Premier Benito Mussolini returned to Italy today, a day ahead of schedule, from his tour of the Italian possession of Libya.

Officials declared there was no political significance in his early homecoming. Italy's attitude, they said, remains unchanged toward Spain and her answer concerning new Locarno guarantees already is in the hands of the British foreign office.

He landed at Gaeta from the cruiser Pola and left immediately for the capital by automobile. He is expected to participate tomorrow in ceremonies commemorating the 18th anniversary of the founding of the Fascist party.
Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, of Austria, it was announced, is expected here after Easter on one of his frequent vacations in Italy. On such trips he usually confers with Mussolini or the Italian foreign ministry concerning the Roman protocol which binds Italy, Austria and Hungary.

FRENCH, BRITISH SEE DECISION ON SPAIN

PARIS, March 21.—(P)—The French foreign office kept close contact with British officials tonight, apparently convinced that Premier Mussolini's return today from Africa was connected with defeat of Italian soldiers in Spain.

Official French sources expressed belief that Mussolini hastened from his

Judge Will Prove He's Not a 'Sissy'

WALTHAM, Mass., March 22.—(P)—To prove he's not the "sissy" he was branded today, Judge Peter S. Cuniff, of the juvenile court, will meet his seven-year-old challenger in a game of knuckle down marbles.

An erring youngster argued to Frank Brady, State Public Welfare agent, after appearing before Judge Cuniff, "if he ain't a sissy why does he wear a long black dress?"

Learning of the youthful impression, Judge Cuniff sent word to the boy to bring a bag of "mibs" with him when he reappears April 3. The judge feels confident of the outcome—robes and all.

NAVY TO START WORK ON 6 WARSHIPS, 3 SUBS

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(P)—The Navy Department announced today it had been assured sufficient steel for its warship building and immediately would start construction of six destroyers and three submarines.

Bids for approximately 7,000,000 pounds of steel, about one-third of the total required, were awarded today. Officials said bids for the remainder had been received and would be awarded Wednesday or Thursday.

For several months recently, the navy has been unable to obtain bids on steel. Officials blamed unwillingness of the steel companies to comply with the Walsh-Healey act, which requires that a 40-hour work week be observed in the production of materials for the government.

GOVERNOR DEMANDS PROBE OF SEPARATISTS AFTER ISLAND RIOTING

35 Puerto Rican Nationalists Jailed; Ammunition Seized in Raids.

PONCE, Puerto Rico, March 22.—(UP)—Governor Blanton Winship tonight ordered a vigorous investigation of Nationalist independence activities throughout Puerto Rico as he heard armed police patrols found 35 persons were killed and 58 wounded in rioting Sunday.

Twelve Nationalist leaders and 23 "Daughters of Liberty," an auxiliary, were arrested on charges of inciting to riot.

Revolvers and ammunition were seized by police in raids here and in San Juan on Nationalist centers where, authorities alleged, plans were outlined for demonstrations against the United States and in favor of Pedro Albizu Campos, party leader. The latter and eight henchmen have been in jail since last July when they were convicted in federal court of conspiracy and sedition.

Governor Winship, who was absent from San Juan when the clash occurred, returned to Ponce to assume personal charge of the situation.

After ordering an investigation he issued a statement late today complaining insular Police Chief Dr. O. Betts and the officers and men under him on their "great patience, consideration and understanding of the situation."

'DUCE'S MISTRESS' PRISONER CLAIMS

Paris Woman Testifies She Tried Suicide After Jilting.

PARIS, March 22.—(UP)—Exotic Madeleine De Fontanges, held for the shooting of the Count De Chambun because he shattered "my hours of unrequited love" with Premier Benito Mussolini, today told an examining magistrate that she was Il Duce's mistress between April and July of last year.

The magistrate asked her, during a two-hour hearing at the Palais de Justice, whether she ever had been intimate with Mussolini.

"Yes," she replied blandly. "I was his mistress between last April and July."

She described how, last November, she tried to commit suicide in Rome after Mussolini had jilted her.

The man responsible for Il Duce's lost love, she said bitterly, was the Count De Chambun whom she tried to kill last Wednesday. He violated her confidences, she explained, and caused Mussolini to end their clandestine romance.

FLIERS DOUBT TIRE CRASHED AMELIA

Blowout Was Result and Not Cause of Crackup, Paper Says.

HONOLULU, March 22.—(AP)—The Honolulu Star-Bulletin said today several veteran fliers agreed in interviews that no structural failure was responsible for the crash of Amelia Earhart's $80,000 plane here Saturday.

The fliers theorized, the newspaper said, that a tire blowout and subsequent cracking of the landing gear was a result, and not the cause, of the accident which halted Miss Earhart's projected 27,000-mile globe-circling flight.

The pilots said they believed one of the twin motors was revolving slightly faster than the other, swaying the plane. Miss Earhart fought to bring it back, they suggested, and turned the nose too fast, spinning the ship into a ground loop.

Text of Chief Justice Hughes' Letter to Judiciary Committee

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP) The following is the text of Chief Justice Hughes' letter read today to the senate judiciary committee:

My Dear Senator Wheeler:

In response to your inquiries, I have the honor to present the following statement with respect to the work of the supreme court:

The supreme court is fully abreast of its work. When we rose on March 15 (for the present recess) we had heard argument in 180 cases (30 numbers) awaiting argument. There are not many of these. There is no congestion of cases upon our calendar.

During the current term, which began last October and which we call October term, 1936, we have heard argument on the merits in 150 cases (180 numbers) and we have 28 cases (30 numbers) awaiting argument. We shall be able to hear all these cases, and such others as may come up for argument, before our adjournment for the term. There is no congestion of cases upon our calendar.

This gratifying condition has been maintained for several years. We have been able to dispose of all cases which are ready to be heard.

2. The cases on our docket are classified as original and appellate. Our original jurisdiction is defined by the constitution and embraces cases to which states are parties. There are not many of these. At the present time they number 13 and are in various stages of progress to submission for determination.

Our appellate jurisdiction covers those cases in which appeal is allowed by statute as a matter of right and cases which come up to us on writs of certiorari.

Comparative Statement. The following is a comparative statement of the docket for the six terms preceding the current term:

For terms 1930-1932:	1930	1931	1932
Total cases on docket	1,089	1,023	1,087
Disposed of during term	900	884	910
Cases remaining on docket	133	139	127

1930	1931	1932
Distribution of cases:
Original cases	8	1
Appellate—on merits	326	282
Petitions for certiorari	566	601

Remaining on Dockets:	Original cases	Appellate—on merits	Petitions for certiorari
Original cases	16	19	17
Appellate—on merits	76	60	56
Petitions for certiorari	47	60	54

For terms 1933-1935:	1933	1934	1935
Total cases on docket	1,132	1,040	1,094
Disposed of during term	1,029	931	990
Cases remaining on docket	103	109	102

1933	1934	1935
Distribution of cases:
Original cases	4	5
Appellate—on merits	293	256
Petitions for certiorari	782	670

Remaining on docket:	Original cases	Appellate—on merits	Petitions for certiorari
Original cases	15	13	12
Appellate—on merits	43	51	56
Petitions for certiorari	45	45	34

Further statistics for these terms, and those for earlier terms, are available if you desire them.

During the present term we have thus far disposed of 666 cases which include petitions for certiorari and appeals which have been argued on the merits and already decided.

3. The statute relating to our appellate jurisdiction is the act of Feb. 13, 1925, 43 Stat. 936. That act limits to certain cases the appeals which come to the supreme court as a matter of right. Review in other cases is made to depend upon the allowance by the supreme court of a writ of certiorari.

Where the appeal purports to be as a matter of right, the rules of the supreme court (rule 12) require the appellant to submit a jurisdictional statement showing that the case falls within that class of appeals and that a substantial question is involved. We examine that statement, and the supporting and opposing briefs, and decide whether the court has jurisdiction. As a result, many frivolous appeals are forthwith dismissed and the way is open for appeals which disclose substantial questions.

4. The act of 1925, limiting appeals as a matter of right and enlarging the provisions for review only through certiorari, was most carefully considered by congress. I call attention to the reports of the judiciary committee of the senate and house of representatives, 65th cong., 1st sess. That legislation was deemed to be essential to enable the supreme court to perform its proper function. No single court of last resort, let alone a court of appeals, could dispose of all the cases which arise in the cases which litigants would seek to bring up if the right of appeals were unrestricted.

ed. Hosts of litigants will take appeals so long as there is a tribunal accessible. In protracted litigation, the advantage is with those who command a long purse. Unmerited appeals cause intolerable delays. Such appeals clog the calendar and get in the way of those that have merit.

When Public Interest Is Involved. Under our federal system, when litigants have litigated their case in the court of first instance, and the trial of the facts, jury or judge as the case may require, has spoken his mind on the facts and law, and the dissatisfied party has been accorded an appeal to the circuit court of appeals, litigants so far as mere private interests are concerned have had their day in court. If further review is to be had by the supreme court it must be because of the public interest in the questions involved. That review, for example, should be for the purpose of resolving conflicts in judicial decisions between different circuit courts of appeals or between circuit courts of appeals and state courts where the question is one of state law; or for the purpose of determining constitutional questions or settling the interpretation of statutes; or because of the importance of the questions of law that are involved. Review by the supreme court is thus in the interest of the law, its appropriate exposition and enforcement, not in the mere interest of the litigants.

It is obvious that if appeal as a matter of right is restricted to certain described cases, the question whether review should be allowed in important reasons therefore. The limitation to some tribunal for determination, and of course, with respect to review by the supreme court, that court should decide.

5. Granting certiorari is not a matter of favor but of sound judicial discretion. It is not the importance of the parties or the amount of money involved that is in question, but the importance of the question controlling the action of the court. The following (Rule 38, Par. 5):

"When Writ Is Not a Right. A review on writ of certiorari is not a matter of right, but of sound judicial discretion, and will be granted only where there are special and important reasons therefor. The limitation, while neither controlling nor fully measuring the court's discretion, indicate the character of reasons which will be considered."

(A) Where a state court has decided a federal question of substance, not therefore determined by this court, or has decided an important question of local law in a way probably in conflict with applicable federal decisions, or has decided an important question of general law in a way probably untenable or in conflict with the weight of authority, the court may, in its discretion, grant a writ of certiorari.

(B) Where a circuit court of appeals has rendered a decision in conflict with the decision of the circuit court of appeals on the same matter; or has decided an important question of local law in a way probably in conflict with applicable federal decisions, or has decided an important question of general law in a way probably untenable or in conflict with the weight of authority, the court may, in its discretion, grant a writ of certiorari.

(C) Where the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia has decided a question of general importance, or a question of substance relating to the constitution or application of the constitution, or a treaty or statute, of the United States, which has not been, but should be, settled by this court; or has decided a federal question of substance, not therefore determined by this court, or has decided an important question of local law in a way probably in conflict with applicable federal decisions, or has decided an important question of general law in a way probably untenable or in conflict with the weight of authority, the court may, in its discretion, grant a writ of certiorari.

These rules are impartially applied, as they should be. I should add that petitions for certiorari are not apportioned among the justices. In all matters before the court, except in the mere routine of administration, all the justices—unless for some reason justice is disqualified or unable to act in a particular case—participate in the decision. This applies to the grant or refusal of petitions for certiorari. Furthermore, petitions for certiorari are granted if four justices think that they should be. A vote by a majority is not required in such cases. Even if two or three of the justices are strongly of the opinion that certiorari should be allowed, frequently the other justices will acquiesce in their view but the petition is always granted if four so vote.

The work of passing upon these applications for certiorari is laborious but the court is able to perform it adequately. Observations have been made as to the vast number of pages of records and briefs that are submitted in the course of a term. The total is imposing but the suggested conclusion is hasty and rests on an illusory basis. Records are replete with testimony and evidence of facts. But the questions on certiorari are questions of law. So many cases turn on the facts, principles of law not being in controversy. It is only when the facts are so interwoven with the questions of law which we should review that the evidence must be examined and then only to the extent that it is necessary to decide the questions of law. Factual Controversies. This at once disposes of a vast number of factual controversies where the parties have been fully heard in the courts below and have no right to burden the supreme court with the disputes which interest no one but themselves. This is also true of controversies over contracts and documents of all sorts which involve only questions of concern to the immediate parties. The applicant for certiorari is required to state in his petition the grounds for his application and in a host of cases that disclosure itself disposes of his request. So that the number of pages of records and briefs afford no satisfactory criterion of the work involved. It must also be remembered that justices who have been dealing with such matters for years have the aid of a long and varied experience in separating the chaff from the wheat.

I think that it is safe to say that about 60 per cent of the applications for certiorari are wholly without merit and ought never to have been made. There are probably about 20 per cent or so in addition which are of doubtful merit but which fail to survive critical examination. The remainder, falling short, I believe, of 20 per cent, show substantial grounds for grant or denial. I think that it is the view of the members of the court that if any error is made in dealing with these applications it is on the side of liberality.

Present Number Large Enough. An increase in the number of justices of the supreme court, apart from any question of policy, which has not been thought of, would promote the efficiency of the court. It is believed that it would impair that efficiency so long as the court acts as a unit. There are now nine justices. More judges to discuss, more judges to be convinced and to decide. The present number of justices is large enough to be prompt, adequate and efficient conduct of the work of the court is concerned. I believe that the present number is large enough.

On December 30, 1936, an accident occurred at a railroad crossing on East avenue, in Cedar town, Ga. The car was said to have crashed into a locomotive that stood at the crossing as the occupants were coming to Cedar town to work. Munyon T. Robertson had obtained a travel and pedestrian accident insurance policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company through The Constitution.

A $1,000 check was issued by the insurance company on February 15 last in payment of this claim immediately after proof of the accident had been filed.

The first thought is that it pays to be a subscriber to The Constitution in connection with the accident insurance feature which it offers to its subscribers. Had Mr. Robertson not been a subscriber, the accident insurance policy would not have been available.

The accident was unfortunate, but Mr. Robertson had been thoughtful enough to protect himself.

Every person should take advantage without fail of The Constitution's unparalleled reader service feature. Its expense is insignificant. Under its terms the policy holder is protected against death in train, bus, boat, elevator, automobile, pedestrian, burning, building and other daily hazards to life and limb, as specified in the policy.

The insurance offered through The Constitution is issued through the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago. This company has paid constitution subscribers since this service began approximately $200,000.

The insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependents of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the basis of $1 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta. To subscribers outside Atlanta and suburbs the rate is $1 in advance for policy in addition to the subscription price, whether the policy goes by mail or is delivered through dealer.

The North American Accident Insurance Company offers a limited all-coverage policy through The Constitution that pays an all kinds of accidents at the small cost of 26 cents per month or $3 per year. In send-watered application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if a beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given and his building and other daily hazards to life and limb, as specified in the policy.

PAYABLE THROUGH THE NORTHERN TRUST CO. CHICAGO, ILL. 2-15

Facsimile of check for $1,000 which the North American Insurance Company paid Mrs. Martha Robertson, widow and beneficiary of Munyon T. Robertson, of Cedar town, Ga., who was killed in an automobile accident on December 30, 1936, at the East avenue railroad crossing in Cedar town. The insurance policy covering this accident was taken out through The Constitution.

Crash Victim's Widow Paid $1,000 By Constitution Insurance Policy

Death in Cedar town as Result of Car Crashing Locomotive Reveals Munyon T. Robertson Had Accident Insurance Through This Paper.

On December 30, 1936, an accident occurred at a railroad crossing on East avenue, in Cedar town, Ga. The car was said to have crashed into a locomotive that stood at the crossing as the occupants were coming to Cedar town to work. Munyon T. Robertson had obtained a travel and pedestrian accident insurance policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company through The Constitution.

A $1,000 check was issued by the insurance company on February 15 last in payment of this claim immediately after proof of the accident had been filed.

The first thought is that it pays to be a subscriber to The Constitution in connection with the accident insurance feature which it offers to its subscribers. Had Mr. Robertson not been a subscriber, the accident insurance policy would not have been available.

The accident was unfortunate, but Mr. Robertson had been thoughtful enough to protect himself.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Heather Aston, now 34, has reared three brothers and three sisters, the youngest of whom, Bobbie, barely 17, cost their mother her life. Heather started her sacrifice when Bobbie was a year old, telling Bruce Logan, who was leaving England for South Africa, that she could not marry and desert her "children" and Caesar, as they affectionately called their pompous but inefficient father. He has insufficient means to maintain Tangier, the home his father gave him as a wedding present, and writes on a "book" which is never completed, Paul married to a wealthy woman, is alienated from his family. Betty has just married the well-to-do Vincent Miller and left on her honeymoon. Heather's sister Vilette, with a second-rate theatrical company in South Africa (Ponsonby is her stage name), writes that she is returning on the same ship. Heather goes to meet the boat train but the man drives Vilette up from Southampton. On Heather's return Vilette introduces him—she is Bruce Logan! Before she goes on to London he makes opportunities to be alone with Heather but she avoids intimate talk. He finds her in the garden the next day and asks why she has changed. Although admitting to herself she loves Bruce, she asks if he doesn't know Vilette loves him. Her sister Effie interrupts their talk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT X.

Caesar retired to his study and Effie went out with a girl friend. Heather was not sorry to have the afternoon to herself—she would make it a long, restful afternoon. A book in the garden perhaps. She would change her frock and thoroughly enjoy herself.

She was up in her room dressing when Priddy knocked on the door. "It's Mr. Bruce," she said.

"He asked for you, Miss Heather."

"Did you say I was in?" and then realizing the futility of the question

Heather added hurriedly, "I'll come down."

She turned again to the mirror and was startled by her own pallor. She rubbed her cheeks vigorously, but without much avail. Why had he come?

Why wasn't Vilette in—or even Effie

—or just some one whose presence would save her from this ordeal?

She stood for a time at the top of the stairs peering over the balusters into the empty hall, feeling like a frightened child. When she had crossed the hall to the drawing room she was infinitely relieved to hear her father's voice in conversation with Bruce. So there was no immediate hurry after all! She walked to the open front door and looked out over the garden, conscious that she was still trembling a little.

She could hear Bruce's voice now,

a little ironical in tone.

"Don't you think it is possible to carry sacrifice to the point of absurdity? To rather force its acceptance upon others? I have known cases in point when it merely amounts to Quixotism. For instance, to keep an old promise."

Heather put out a hand to steady herself against the frame of the door, and Bruce went on:

"Only the other day I heard of a woman—little more than a girl really—who had promised on her mother's death-bed never to marry, and now, although she has met some decent fellow who wishes to marry her, she considers she is tied to that old promise, given in a moment of emotional distress and which should never have been given at all. Do you mean to say that the girl would not be justifi-ably in breaking her word?"

"A promise is a promise," Caesar declared solemnly. "And if one gives one's word, one should abide by it, even at the possible risk of one's own personal happiness. Now with regard to a promise of marriage, "I consider such a thing should be sacred and binding. It would do away with once and for ever with that abomination, breach of promise, and "

Heather moved abruptly and crossed the hall to the drawing room.

"If you two have settled the affairs of state, wouldn't you like some tea?"

she asked. She shook hands with Bruce. "I could hear you in deep conversation, but I had better leave you alone. How are you, Bruce?

The family are all out. I'll tell Priddy to make tea."

But as she spoke Priddy appeared in the doorway with the tray.

"No tea for me," Caesar said with dignity. "Tea is one of our English customs that makes me the digestion needs time for recuperation."

Heather said hurriedly, "Oh, do have a cup, dear, or stay and talk to us." But Caesar was already on the way to finish an interrupted nap.

"I am sorry they are all out,"

Heather said again. "I am sure had they known you were coming—"

"I purposely said nothing about it,"

Bruce answered. "But it seems I am more fortunate than I had dared to hope."

Heather laughed. "You sound very formal today," she accused him. "Perhaps it is Caesar's influence. What was he lecturing about this afternoon?"

She was busy at the tea table, but she suddenly crossed to where she stood and took the cup from her hand, setting it down on the table. "Never mind the tea, I want to talk to you."

Heather stood very still, looking straight ahead of her; she was only conscious of a cold detachment and of a faint resentment.

Old promises! . . . honor! . . . sacrifice! . . . she were there before her eyes, a warning sign which she could not disregard.

It was generous of Bruce, but if only he wouldn't! . . . They could have gone on so easily still liking each other and being good friends, without any allusion to the past, if only he would not seek to blow on its dead ashes.

Her face was very quiet and almost without expression when she raised her eyes to his face. "Well? What is it?"

she said.

He made a half movement with outstretched hand, then let it fall as he turned impatiently from her.

"You make it very difficult for me,"

he said. "You were not like this years ago, Heather. If you no longer care for me—He stopped and she said serenely, "I do care for you—I always shall—as one of my oldest friends—" and then her voice died away as his had done, and she thought helplessly,

"What a trifle, commonplace thing to say—as if I learned it off in readiness. I wonder if it sounds like that to him! . . . Oh! . . . if only some one would come."

Bruce was looking down at her again now, his face very earnest.

"Don't say that unless it is what you really mean," he said quietly. "We are neither of us children, and we can't afford any misunderstanding. When I knew that I was to see you again—

when Vilette told me who she really was—the past came back as vividly

as if it had been only yesterday.

. . . I felt like—like a boy.

Heather only longed for the voyage to end so that we should meet. I—I'm not very good at expressing what I feel, but I beg of you to believe me

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

They all took their horns at once, as though it would do them any good.

We've never been able to figure out the psychology of those people who trot their horns every time they get stuck in a traffic jam. I mean, perhaps, it's their own unoriginal way of venting their bad humor. But it certainly doesn't improve the humor of the rest of us in the neighborhood. And horn-toters should think of that, too.

If you look at it logically, you can see how silly it is. If somebody, 50 cars ahead of you, has stalled, the feeling of 50 horns isn't going to help him get his car started. It would, if we were he, make starting a car utterly impossible. Or if a cop up a couple of blocks is going through one of his periodic rebellions against the routine of traffic lights, and letting things go according to his own creative genius, it's easy to see that horn-toting is just going to make him more creative.

The only thing for the rest of us to do is to carry around car plugs, and hope the sanity will descend at some future date upon the car drivers of the city. But probably we can't hope for much. We'll just have to depend upon our car plugs.

SOLAR SYSTEM QUESTIONS.

II—The Moon.

Many questions about the moon are asked of me, and I shall give answers to some of the motley.

"Why does the moon change its shape?"

From time to time I have seen "the new moon in the old moon's arms," but I never saw it more clearly than one night last week when I was driving through a meek in Mexico City. Mexico City is almost a mile and a half above sea level, and the air is thin and clear—which makes the moon and stars seem to shine more brightly.

"Are there any people on the moon?"

I am sorry to say there is not one chance in a million that people live on the moon. If the moon is either air or water, it is in such small amount that people like us could not live there.

"How far away is the moon?"

As it is around the earth, the moon does not keep just the same distance away. Two hundred and forty thousand miles may be taken as an easy-to-remember average figure.

"Are there really mountains on the moon?"

Yes, the moon really has mountain peaks. There are tall peaks and cliffs thousands of feet high. Some of the markings look like the craters of volcanoes, but there is no record of any volcanic eruption on the moon.

GEORGIA COAST ROUTE SEEN AS HARBOR BILL, SMALLEST IN YEARS

Intercoastal Waterways
From Wilmington to Florida Favored.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(P)—Chairman Joseph J. Mansfield predicted today early approval by the house rivers and harbor committee of a bill authorizing army engineers to spend approximately $25,000,000 on new improvements to rivers and harbors throughout the nation.

The committee, he said, will hold its last hearing Wednesday and then start drafting the bill.

With only about 80 projects likely to be included, the authorization measure would be one of the smallest reported to congress in recent years.

The last rivers and harbors act, approved in 1933, authorized projects costing upwards of $600,000,000.

The chairman said all of the 80 projects have been reported favorably by army engineers.

Southeastern projects to be considered for inclusion in the authorization measure include:

Morehead City harbor and Beaufort Inlet, N. C., $1,555,000.
Cape Fear river, at Wilmington, N. C., to Savannah, Ga., intracoastal waterway, $2,760,000 to increase waterway depth to 12 feet from eight feet.

Bay River, N. C., $9,000; Cape Fear river above Wilmington, N. C., $51,400; inland waterway, Beaufort, N. C., to Cape Fear river, $6,000; Ashley river, South Carolina, $340,000; inside water route between Savannah, Ga., and Fernandina, Fla., $103,000; Melbourne harbor, Florida, $12,000; Miami harbor, Florida, $800,000; Charlotte harbor, Florida, $59,000; St. Petersburg harbor, Florida, $123,000; St. John's river, Florida, $63,300; Sarasota bay, Florida, $38,000; St. Marks river, Florida, $75,000; channel from Pensacola bay into Bayou Chico, Florida, $40,000; St. Josephs bay, Florida, $104,000.

the men who threw him from the building, was also freed.

Those arrested in addition to Edmondson were:

Paul Matthews, 20, 819 Harold street, S. E., and Leland Hawks, 21, 454 Pryor street, S. W.

Mildred Kingloff, woman attorney, represented the relief men in recorder's court and made a plea for them and their families. Recorder John L. Cone tried all defendants and released them when they agreed with an order and legal manner.

Matthews had previously announced "just because they have arrested me, will not keep me from staging a real sit-down strike there when I'm out, if the gang will support me."

Other Recommendations.

Among the major recommendations of the relief investigating committee in addition to the cut in Miller's salary and the release of additional funds were:

1. The money appropriated to the department for relief purposes is inadequate for the proper care of persons on relief.

2. The ratio of persons who are imposters or frauds has been shown to be negligible. The committee examined about 100 cases and about 20 appeared, at first, to be fraudulent.

3. The committee feels that segregation of employable and unemployable clients is desirable if it can be adjusted without additional overhead costs.

4. The committee believes in the principle of race segregation and does not adhere to the principle of race equality and recommends that any employees of the department of public welfare who do not subscribe to this theory be discharged immediately.

5. The auditor's overhead figure of 7.9 per cent does not take into consideration free rent of the premises occupied by the Department of Public Welfare, nor does it consider the salaries of employees paid by the federal government. Considering these last two items, it is estimated that the overhead locally is about that of the average of communities of comparable size, approximately 20 per cent.

6. It was shown about 80 per cent of the taxes collected by Fulton county come from properties located in the city. This committee thus has reached the conclusion that the money which should be accessible for relief of actual starvation and human suffering within the city is being diverted by Fulton county to build roads and for other services not absolutely necessary for persons who are able to pay taxes to provide these services for themselves.

Your committee feels this is unjust as the first duty of any community is to feed its citizens rather than provide unnecessary luxuries for any class.

7. Because of the nebulous condition of old age pensions the committee feels it cannot at this time intelligently recommend what should be provided in the future by the city for relief purposes.

8. The committee recommends that the city continue to perform its relief activities through the Department of Public Welfare.

Just before the meeting of the relief probing committee, about 200 relief clients thronged the second floor of the city hall, and police reserves were summoned to clear the building. The group was under the impression the board of public welfare was in session.

Police took possession of relief headquarters after the sit-down strike play.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical: only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Man Prevents Trial By Killing Himself

MONROEVILLE, Ala., March 22.—A few hours before he was to go on trial in circuit court on perjury charges, George Smith, 21-year-old county truck driver, was found shot to death near his gravel truck near Beaufort today.

Sheriff J. P. Farris said that young Smith, who recently was indicted by the Monroe county grand jury, was driving alone in his truck. He stopped the machine, walked a few feet away and sent a pistol bullet through his heart, the officer said.

ed out, and would not permit relief clients to enter, telling them "come back tomorrow."

Miller and his aides were anticipating a large crowd this morning, and it was indicated every precaution will be taken to avoid another outbreak.

Miller last night made the following statement:

"I wish we had the money to give to those who need it. I would be glad to meet all demands on the department if it were in my power. We are there to furnish all the relief we can and are trying to do as good a job as possible. We believe our record bears this out. The findings of the committee give our department a clean bill of health. We will distribute funds just as soon as they are available to us."

Gets $16.50 for Month.

Mathews, in jail yesterday afternoon, said he has been getting $26.80 a month until the current month. "They are giving me only $16.50 this month and have cut off the $10 which they have been allowing me for rent," he added.

"We needed to have the rent paid. I have only one lung. The other is in a state of collapse due to tuberculosis," he declared.

Hawks said he formerly was employed in the CCC, but is not on relief and cannot get there.

"I told them I was married now and needed help, and they told me to go get a job," he added.

"When it gets so a man can't stick up for his wife and babies, things are getting awful," Mathews said.

GREAT BRITAIN FORCED TO REARM, SAYS AMES

League of Nations Leader Speaks at Georgia Evening School.

Great Britain's continued rearmament is in the interest of international peace and resulted largely from the failure of other nations to support her in declaring sanctions during the Italian-Herbert Ames, lecturer for the Carnegie Endowment Fund for International Peace, who spoke last night at the Georgia Evening School.

The visiting lecturer, who was the first lecturer of the League of Nations, spoke on "Britain's Policy at Geneva and Premier Baldwin's Dilemma."

"Great Britain faced a great dilemma when she tried to establish sanctions during the Ethiopian conflict and then found other nations were not so ready to enforce them as was she," Sir Herbert declared.

Had No Alternative.

"With the attitude of European nations thus revealed England had no alternative but to build up a strong military force which would command respect and insure peace."

Sir Herbert predicted a continuance of rearmament by Great Britain "in the interest of international peace." He declared he did not expect the United States to enter the League of Nations any time soon and asserted that in his opinion this country should not enter it "under the present conditions."

"But I hope that some time in the future the union of English-speaking nations will act as an effective barrier in case of future aggressions," he declared.

Touching on the war debt question, he asserted Great Britain would like very much to pay her debt to the United States, but "with Germany failing to pay France and France failing to pay Great Britain, it is England's duty to herself and her people to arm herself in the interest of peace."

Chamberlain Seen as Premier.

Another prediction made by Sir Herbert was that Sir Neville Chamberlain will succeed Sir Stanley Baldwin as premier after the coronation. "Sir Neville is firmly behind England's present rearmament policy," he declared.

The visiting speaker was entertained last night with a dinner given by the International Relations Club of the evening school. He will speak at 9 o'clock this morning before the social science classes at Georgia Tech and will be the guest of Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, at a luncheon today. He also will be the dinner guest of the Tech International Relations Club tonight at the Tech dining hall.

Other speaking engagements include an address at 8 o'clock tonight at the Georgia Tech Y. M. C. A. on "The Bubbling Cauldron of Central Europe," an address at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at Agnes Scott College on the question, "Does German Rearmament Necessarily Mean War?" and will conclude his lecture series here with an address at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night at Emory University on "Mr. Baldwin's Dilemma."

tering and burglary to their already illegal seizure of our plants."

The effort to bring about a meeting between John L. Lewis, C. I. O. leader, and Walter P. Chrysler, on the issues involved in the strike that has made about 60,000 of the corporation's employees idle, was continued in Washington by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Chrysler has refused to meet with Lewis or any other union official until the 6,000 sit-down strikers in the corporation's local plants have been withdrawn.

Consider Recalls.

Marin said today that the U. A. W. is giving "serious consideration" to proposal to circulate recall petitions for Mayor Couzens, who sanctioned police raids on small striker-held plants.

At the same time a Detroit manufacturers' agent said that petitions for the recall of Governor Murphy would be circulated unless the Governor uses the state's military force to eject all sit-down strikers.

Other developments today included: Disclosure by Governor Murphy that he had received letters and telephone calls threatening his life.

Announcement by the Governor that legislation is being drafted to deal with labor disputes.

Rejection by Chrysler Corporation conferees of a union proposal to settle the Chrysler strike on the basis of the U. A. W.-G. M. agreement, which provides virtually exclusive bargaining rights for six months.

Form Military Group.

Organization of union "minute men" along military lines to "protect strikers and the right to strike."

An offer by the Michigan Sheriffs' Association to supply 1,000 trained men to help eject sit-down strikers in Detroit.

Today's evictions were accomplished without any of the violence that characterized the ejection of more than 100 women from the Bonair Schwartz Cigar Company plant Saturday night.

At the Thomas P. Henry Company printing plant, a striker admitted a 60-man police raid and said: "We've been waiting to surrender." Twenty-five men had occupied the plant since March 12, demanding recognition of the International Typographical Union.

At the Fort street office of the city welfare department, a "sit-down delegation" that had occupied a 20 per cent increase in welfare allotments, offered no resistance when 50 policemen ordered them to leave.

In some quarters the belief was expressed that the U. A. W. would not carry out its general strike threat unless there was a recurrence of eviction violence. Other persons, among them Mayor Couzens, voiced doubt that the general strike would be called under any circumstances.

One U. A. W. official explained that the raids on smaller plants were interpreted as possible preludes to an attempt to eject the strikers occupying eight Chrysler corporation plants.

Representatives of the Detroit, Highland Park and Hamtramck police departments met this afternoon with Sheriff Wilcox, who said the purpose of the conference was "to get a picture of the police manpower relative to the Chrysler strike." The sheriff said he would report to Governor Murphy.

AWARDS FOR GARDEN CLUBS.

Garden clubs of Atlanta and neighboring communities are creating keen rivalry for the valuable cash awards which will be given by The Constitution for attendance at the Spring Garden School, a daily page of $2.15 will be awarded each morning to the garden club having the largest attendance for the day and a grand prize of $25 will be given the club having the largest total representation for the three days of the school.

The Constitution believes the various garden clubs of Atlanta, with their beautiful club gardens scattered about over the city, have done much to increase the beauty and attractiveness of the Gate City and it is because of this that the cash awards are being made to the clubs, the money to be used in adding further to the development of the club gardens.

NEWARK, N. J., March 22.—(P)—The Ellis H. Parkers, father and son, lost today in a third legal move to scrap the federal indictment charging them with conspiracy in the Paul H. Wendel kidnap-torture case.

Federal Judge William Clark dismissed a demurrer which attacked the validity of the indictment on three grounds.

Another avenue open for continuing the attack on the indictment was the complaint filed by the Parkers against the manner of drawing the federal petit jury panel. The panel was drawn by Jury Commissioner James Kerney Jr., editor of the Trenton Times newspaper, and Charles E. Jascoll, chief deputy clerk of the United States district court.

Vesper Family Identifies

Missing.

EASTBOURNE, England, Tuesday, March 23.—(UP)—A nude body washed ashore near here was identified today as that of Frank Vesper by two relatives of the English actor-dramatist who disappeared mysteriously two weeks ago from the French liner Paris.

The body, washed in from the sea at Seven Sisters cliffs, between here and Seaford, was identified by the actor's father, Dr. Percy Vesper, of Stanmore, and his uncle, Major P. Vesper, of Pevensey bay. The father viewed the body while Major Vesper identified it from a photograph.

The fact that the body was unclothed aroused speculation as to what happened to the $25,000 or more Vesper was believed to have been carrying when he leaped or fell from the Paris after a gay champagne party.

An inquest will open this morning.

A negro purse-snatcher yesterday morning took a pocketbook containing $243 from Mrs. M. L. Kenley, of the Jefferson hotel, as she was walking on Peachtree street, near the Arcade, she reported to police.

A brief struggle with the purse-snatcher by Mrs. Kenley failed to prevent the theft.

Witnesses said they saw a negro shortly afterward jump from the Whitehall street viaduct and then saw him lying motionless on the tracks below, but he had disappeared when police arrived.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT RECEIVED AS MEMBER, HONORED BY PHI KAPPA

President Urges Preservation of Homesteads of Men of Historical Note.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 22. (AP)—President Roosevelt, accepting membership in the University of Georgia's historic literary and oratorical society, Phi Kappa, asserted today the homesteads of prominent men in American history should be preserved.

The brief ceremony was held on his vacation cottage veranda.

Accepting the honor from young Morris Abram, society president, in the presence of eight others from the Athens, Ga., institution, the chief executive told of his own college activities and stressed the need for preserving the homesteads of prominent Americans such as Alexander Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy, and a Georgian.

Phi Kappa, originally formed as a secret society with a motto "In agreement or disagreement, we are always friends," has on its membership rolls such men as President Jackson, Tyler, Polk and Buchanan, Henry Clay, Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy, and Napoleon III.

"Friend of the Universe," its full name, Philo Kosmean, means, "a friend of the universe."

Abrams said Mr. Roosevelt had been in spirit a member of Phi Kappa since he had always "loved the universe . . . and humanity."

He added Andrew Jackson had been an exponent of the same principles for which Mr. Roosevelt stood.

"Those ideals of justice and leadership above class distinction and sectionalism," he said, "have always been the ideals of Phi Kappa in its long history of service to state and nation."

"Your life has been one dedicated to the betterment of your fellow man. You have given new hope and inspiration to the underprivileged and neglected. You have shown to all the world the modern American leadership to meet twentieth century progress."

The President, replying, said the ceremony carried him back to 1901, when he became a member of Harvard's oldest literary society organized by James Russell Lowell and Edward Everett Hale; that in many ways the ceremony was similar, and that later the Harvard society became a chapter of Alpha Delta Phi.

He said there was a real tie between Harvard and the University of Georgia in this work. He mentioned Henry W. Grady, Georgia's famous orator, who was a member of the society, and said his father knew him well and admired him.

He recalled his father's friendship with President Cleveland and how Stephens, while in congress, had put through a bill establishing a division in the Department of the Interior to help secure and maintain homes of prominent Americans.

He said while at Harvard he never went in for debating, but devoted much of his spare time writing for the Crimson, the Harvard paper.

COURT PLAN IS TERMED JURIST-DICTATOR BAR

Judge Park Renews Praise of President's Proposal To Reform Judiciary.

SPARTA, Ga., March 22.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge James B. Park, 83, told the Hancock county grand jury today that President Roosevelt "is only endeavoring to prevent some members of the supreme court from being dictators" by proposing to reorganize the nation's highest tribunal.

The dean of Georgia's circuit court bench continued his praise of the President's judiciary proposal, first voiced last week in another address to a grand jury.

Judge Park said he favors the President's plan to permit retirement of supreme court justices on full pay for life when they reach the age of 70.

"There have been many unjust criticisms of the President for making the (court reorganization) proposal," he said today, "and some are endeavoring to make the people of this country believe that from this alone he is a dictator."

Citing the "constitutional" of the plan, Judge Park said "all of this fury against our wise President is only propaganda to prevent him from carrying out the mandates of the people."

"By the decisions of former members and also some present members of said court," he continued, "some of the acts of congress passed for the general welfare of the people since March 4, 1933 have been set aside without time or reason or constitutional authority."

"I honor and admire our President for having the courage in endeavoring to carry out his promises and the rank and file of the voters of the United States are surprised that he has not the combined assistance of the Democratic members of congress."

The veteran jurist said that "while I accord sincerity and honesty to the members of the supreme court in deciding cases and have the greatest respect for the laws of our country, yet I am free to say that judges, like individuals, often decide issues from their respective point of view."

WELFARE BOARD NAMED.

She'll Write Foreword

MISS MARTHA BERRY.

MISS BERRY TO PEN FOREWORD OF BOOK

Who's Who of American Women Gives School Head New Honor.

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., March 22.—Dr. Martha Berry, founder and director, Berry schools and college, who recently was appointed by Governor Rivers as the only woman member of the newly formed Georgia planning commission, has received a request from the "Who's Who of American Women" to write a foreword to the next edition.

In the last edition a half-dozen of the most prominent women of America wrote messages to the women of America for this volume, and the invitation to Miss Berry to write a foreword to the new edition is further recognition of her work in building the Berry schools and college out of the original log cabin Sunday school she started 35 years ago.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bankhead, the senator arrived in Washington last night. He went to Tucson in January shortly after he took the oath for another six-year term in the senate.

"I am confident of being a well man again," Bankhead said. "I want to thank my friends in Alabama for the concern they have shown for me."

Elmo Roberts was burned about the face and his left hand was badly torn and is in a local hospital in serious condition. Bob Roberts was burned about the face and legs.

Dr. Martha Berry, founder and director, Berry schools and college, who recently was appointed by Governor Rivers as the only woman member of the newly formed Georgia planning commission, has received a request from the "Who's Who of American Women" to write a foreword to the next edition.

In the last edition a half-dozen of the most prominent women of America wrote messages to the women of America for this volume, and the invitation to Miss Berry to write a foreword to the new edition is further recognition of her work in building the Berry schools and college out of the original log cabin Sunday school she started 35 years ago.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bankhead, the senator arrived in Washington last night. He went to Tucson in January shortly after he took the oath for another six-year term in the senate.

"I am confident of being a well man again," Bankhead said. "I want to thank my friends in Alabama for the concern they have shown for me."

The senator said he would press at once for passage of his farm tenant bill.

'NAPS' Athletic Stars Awarded Symbols by Mr. Harrison at Banquet

By Sally Forth.

IT WAS a banquet in name, but it turned out to be a brilliant climax to the successful basketball season of North Avenue Presbyterian school, when members of the squad assembled recently at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Under the coaching of that athletically talented Dorothy Fugitt, the "NAPS" team has run up 43 victories in the past three years, which closed last week with the victory over the Washington Seminary team.

One of the outstanding features of the banquet was the presentation of the cup given by C. E. Harrison, who since 1929 has given it to the member of the team who has been the most outstanding and who showed the most ability, sportsmanship, and general all-around good playing, the selection having been determined by vote. However, this year all the girls played with so much good spirit that he departed from his usual procedure, and suggested that the names of the six seniors on the squad be inscribed on the cup. The fortunate girls were Marjorie Armstrong, Barbara McGaughey, Martha Zoll, Helen Klugh, Anne Mitchell and Betty Mather.

Other awards featured the banquet with the first-string girls receiving gold basketballs, with the exception of Barbara McGaughey, who won a shamrock pin by virtue of being on the first-string for four years. The shamrock is the emblem of the team and the green and white colors are those of the team. Marjorie Armstrong and Martha Zoll were awarded basketball pendants for being members of the squad for three years, and Anne Mitchell, Helen Klugh and Betty Mather were awarded bracelets bearing the "NAPS" insignia for their two-year service on the squad. Nancy Waham, for her first year as a member of the team, won a gold basketball.

Silver balls went to the second-string members, including Suzanne Farn, Anne Egan, Dorothy Campbell, Kathryn Graves, Ruth Roby, Bettina Baughman and Kate Haynes. Dorothy Fugitt, the attractive coach, presided, and because of the affection in which the girls hold Dorothy, she was awarded a beautiful glass-framed clock. She is a graduate of the school in the class of 1930, and graduated in 1935 from the University of Southern California. As a director of physical education she is rated as "tops," and it goes without saying that she was probably the most thrilled person at the banquet for the team, which celebrated their wonderful victory because of her excellent coaching.

GUESTS at the Jones-Bryan wedding Saturday evening are still talking about the beauty and charm of the nuptials, the lovely bride, the attractive groom, and all the other features which made it an event of widespread social interest. Then, too, the participants in the cutting of the cake are discussing the symbols which they found in the slices, for, in addition to creating much merriment, the recipients usually take the cake-cutting seriously even though they may get the thimble, the horseshoe or the dime.

In any case, it's always lots of fun, and although Sally does not believe in signs, it might be a good idea to chronicle the following: Bess L'Engle, the thimble; Christine Thiesen, the dime; Rosebud Leide, the anchor; Charlotte Sage, the ring; Robyn Peoples, the fleur de lis; Edith Hodgson, the button; Kathryn Pattillo, the horseshoe; Virginia Merry, the wishbone; and Virginia Bryan, a ship.

The young bride and groom, Bill Bryan and the former Nancy Waldo Jones, had laid their plans so well that they slipped away without the knowledge of any of the family and guests present. The pretty bride did not toss her bouquet to her attendants, but slipped to her room and dressed for her honeymoon to the east before going to Montreal, Canada, where her doctor husband has accepted a splendid position in a leading hospital in the Canadian city.

ELINOR WILKINSON and her mother, Mrs. C. R. Wilkinson, spent glorious days in Havana, Cuba, and Miami, and have just returned from their travels. In Havana they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Steward, whose home is considered the loveliest in Cuba. It is built of green stucco, and is situated near the Gulf of Mexico, and its spacious rooms were the scene of many informal social gatherings during the Atlantans' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Steward and their guests attended a cocktail party at the American consul's home, and every evening they went to dances at the Casino, a famous night club; the Yacht Club, and the Country Club.

As January, February and March compose the months of carnival season in Cuba, Elinor and her mother witnessed the most gorgeous parades and festivals nearly every day, and Sunday was the biggest day of all for the celebrants. There were ten dances on Sunday, and innumerable cocktail parties, so you can imagine what a gay time Elinor had.

Elinor says she received a real thrill when she attended an elaborate costume ball at the country club one evening. A group of young Havana society belles and beaux gave an interpretation of the weird "Congo dance," which was banned in Cuba because of the human sacrifices offered during its strange rituals. New York Visitors Are Complimented At Social Affairs

Yellow predominated in the floral decorations of the exquisitely appointed table at the dinner given Sunday evening by Mrs. John D. Little at her Habersham road residence as a complimentary gesture to Judge and Mrs. Alfred Towley, of New York, who are Mrs. Little's distinguished guests.

Yellow calla lilies were gracefully arranged in an antique silver basket on the table, which was covered with a cloth of Venetian rose point lace.

Covers were placed for Judge and Mrs. Towley, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, Justice and Mrs. Price Gilbert, Mrs. Charles Conklin, former Governor John M. Slaton, Marion Smith and Mrs. Little.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant were hosts yesterday at a luncheon at Craigclachie, their home on Pace's Ferry road, given in honor of Judge and Mrs. Towley. The table was adorned with an effective arrangement of white jonquils and weeping cherry placed in a white Spode container, and covers were laid for 10.

The hostess is the attractive debut daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dunnick and is a popular student at Washington seminary, where she is a sophomore.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunnick will assist their daughter in entertaining as will officers of the O. B. X. sorority, including Miss Margaret L'Engle, president; Miss Ann Bell, vice president; Miss Cornelia Callaway, secretary; and Miss Marjorie Dobbs, treasurer.

Other members of the younger social contingent will assist, the name of these to be announced later. Invitations will be issued to 400 members of the high school and college contingents of society.

Mrs. Charles Conklin entertained at a dinner party last evening at her home on Peachtree road at which Judge and Mrs. Towley were honor guests. Judge and Mrs. Towley departed today for Pinehurst, N. C.

Miss Frances Gooch Gives Reading At Mrs. Slaton's Home March 31

Miss Frances K. Gooch, teacher of expression at Agnes Scott College, remembered for her delightful reading of "Much Ado About Nothing" last year, will give a reading at the home of Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, at 2802 Peachtree road, on March 31 at 3 o'clock. During one of Miss Gooch's frequent trips for study in England she became affiliated with Miss Elsie Fogarty, of the Royal Albert Hall in London.

Through Miss Fogarty Miss Gooch has been appointed donor of the traveling scholarship in English expression. This scholarship is a material contribution to the expenses of the summer school which starts in London, goes next for some weeks in Oxford, thence to Malvern and finishes at Stratford, that Mecca for all lovers of English speech.

The requirements consist of a short period at some accredited college and a desire to perfect the spoken word, either for the stage, the radio or the lecture platform. The scholarships are not confined to Agnes Scott students only, but Miss Gooch would be glad to be put in touch with anyone who would like further information on the subject. Her reading this time will be of "A Man's House," by John Drinkwater. This play was produced at Malvern, England, in 1934 and created unusual interest among an audience composed chiefly of England's intelligentsia.

It is a play extremely apropos at this time of persecution of the Jewish race, and an audience of those who appreciate Miss Gooch will enjoy her at her best. Tickets at 50 cents each can be had at the door, at the Omnibus Shop, 254 Peachtree street, and from members of the St. Cecilia Circle of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, under whose auspices the reading is to be given.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TRED FEET

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation

Diet, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing the extra pounds. The reason is, often times, a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this gland and then it goes to the rest of the body. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on extra fat. This fluid helps nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding the gland the substance it needs—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time and money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

VITAMINS IN YOUR BEAUTY KIT.

Do you get your beauty foods? Glamour begins with your vitamins—whether you believe it or not!

One vitamin can't do the work of all the others, and it takes more than the vitamin C in orange juice to guard that schoolgirl complexion. Without vitamin A you'll have your skin troubles, and a lack of G can make your crowning glory as drab as a mop. In fact, no beauty can hold up without vitamins—and we can prove it!

A balanced diet is a beauty diet, for it supplies the important foods in adequate amounts. No matter what you are doing about your weight, you need 800 to 1,000 calories a day in the protective elements, vitamins, minerals and protein.

Each vitamin and mineral plays its role in your appearance. Vitamin A builds up your resistance to colds. Lack of sleep is not the only thing that puts circles under your eyes. It may be sinusitis and insufficient vitamin A. Lack of this same vitamin makes you susceptible to skin infection, causes rough, dry skin, effects your teeth and the sparkle in your eyes. It seems that a deficiency in this vitamin can well-nigh ruin a girl's looks, so be sure that you get your milk, butter, cream, egg yolks, spinach, carrots—and cod liver oil. These are the richest sources of the vitamin.

Being more highly strung than the stolid sex, women need more vitamin B. Unless you get your share of this vitamin you are unprotected against various nervous disorders—and well we know what frayed nerves can do to beauty! Use cod liver oil, particularly, should take an optimum amount of vitamin B, and so should the extremely active person with great nervous drive. Vitamin B also contributes to muscled tone. Vitamin C—a good source of which is milk—is known also to be important to a lovely skin. The vitamin is contained in yeast, yeast extracts, milk, meat, eggs and legumes.

"Homely in the cradle means pretty at the table"—if you get your beauty foods.

Cannon Shell Found In Peachtree Section

A cannon shell, believed to have been fired during the War Between the States, was found under tons of dirt last week, when sidewalks were being graded along vacant property on one of the city's most important roads.

"All of this area adjacent to Peachtree creek was the scene of the encampment of the Confederate soldiers, who fought in the first encounter of the Battle of Atlanta," said Mrs. Leuben Arnold, chairman of the Pace's Ferry Road Improvement Committee, "which accounts for the other Civil War relics being found, among which are grape shot balls, which were held together by chains, covering a wide range, when fired with tremendous force from cannon. Numerous Minnie balls, large bullets fired from ancient muskets, are prevalent in this section. These relics will form a nucleus for the Pace's Ferry road collection of interesting historical treasures."

Sidewalks along the road have been graded adjoining vacant property and made usable. Owners of property have contributed a small amount of money to the improvement committee for the purpose of clearing brush and purchasing grass seed, which have been planted on the sidewalks.

At the intersection of Moore's Mill road, on Pace's Ferry road, sidewalks have been graded and Northside drive, previously high banks necessitated pedestrians walking on this much-used road.

At the intersection of Arden road, Mrs. James Goodrum has improved vacant property in co-operation with the Pace's Ferry Road Improvement Committee. A long stretch of bank has been sloped and planted.

The length of Pace's Ferry road, from Buckhead to Howell Mill road, shows improvement due to the many weeks of strenuous work. When the sidewalks are a uniform stretch of green grass, the road, which is so permanently maintained by the improvement committee, will present an even more pleasing appearance.

Hollywood Today

HOLLYWOOD, March 22.—Everything is topsy-turvy on the set of Universal's "The Road Back." Extras are generals and leading men are common soldiers.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" flop picture of long ago. It is now used as dressing room and general dumping station. . . . Weary, mud-stained soldiers are lying in the sun. For three weeks, the company has been fighting a mock-serious battle every night—and all are tired—tired physically and tired of war.

There is one great difference between these "soldiers" and the lads with whom I fought during the war," says Director James Whale. "These grumble more."

"I hate knowing where the powder is going to explode—it makes me jump," interrupts Soldier Larry Blake—recently performing celebrity imitations at The Trocadero.

"The Road Back" has made all these youngsters pacifists," continues Whale. "They're tired of the hardships of war—lying in mud, carrying heavy packs on their backs—and they don't like it. The story, a sequel to Eric M. Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front," deals with the end of the war and the return home of the German soldiers. They expect to be hailed as heroes. Instead, they are stigmatized as cowards. The picture will be banned in Germany."

Connecting link between "All Quiet" and "The Road Back" is Slim Summerville, who plays the role of Tazden in both pictures. . . . Of the entire company, four fought in the war: a couple of German gunners, Whale and George Daly. The last-named went through the entire massacre without a scratch, only to be killed on the set in an explosion during the imitation war.

Battles are never waged singly in Hollywood. A similar end-of-the-war epic is taking place at M-G-M. for the film, "They Gave Him a Gun."

Woody Van Dyke is directing, so it follows that fun is as important as fighting. . . . The picture starts with one good battle, then recedes to a small American town, where a different type of battle—moral—is waged by Gladys George, Franchot Tone and Spencer Tracy. Miss George is an ex-nurse and wears the outmoded clothes of 1919. Her skirt is long—and looks wrong.

Three dancing girls from "Broadway Melody of 1937" come on to watch the entertainment invariably provided by Van Dyke. The latter rises from his leopard-skin-covered chair to be moaned "Why is it I never get dancing pictures to make?" . . . A make-up man is staging a sit-down strike. On the cardboard placard across his chest is written, "I won't work until Spens-

"Where is Tracy?" 10 people yell excitedly. Van Dyke orders a still picture taken of the rib. "Yeah, grin Tracy. Then we can show it to Eddie Mannix and we'll all get fired."

Barbara Stanwyck is emoting without her soul-mate—i. e., Robert Taylor—in Twentieth Century Fox's "This Is My Affair." She wears a cute ring-belted red wig. Also a pale blue fluffy dress of tulle and voile on which glitter silver sequins, and a girlish blue sash. Director Bill Seiter, who started his megaphoning career 22 years ago, is happiest when his leading lady and gentleman are not in love.

"A little love helps," he comments, "but no more. It wastes too much time." The most in-love couple directed by Seiter was the unfortunate Marie Prevost, who recently died of heart failure, and Kenneth Harlan in the prophetic picture, "Beautiful and Damned." "She'd complain if I kept Kenneth too long in the rain. And he'd get very annoyed if I made Marie work too hard." Least in-love couple during Seiter's directorial career is Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor. "They are good friends," said Seiter. "But not what you'd call sizzling romancers."

DALLAS, Texas, Sunday.—I had a most delightful visit yesterday with a three-day-old baby and his mother. The young Governor of Texas and Mrs. Allred have just added a third son to their family. I happen to like babies, so it was a joy to visit this small mite for a few minutes. He opened his eyes and looked at me as though he knew quite well that, to those around him, he was, at the moment, the center of the universe.

It is such a pity that this pleasant feeling cannot be indulged in for long, that we have to make the sad discovery before many months go by that the universe is very little interested in us as individuals.

The Governor's mansion in Austin is an interesting old house. It has big white pillars in front and great high-ceilinged rooms. The new baby, named Sam Houston Allred, was appropriately born in Sam Houston's room, in which the general's furniture still stands.

My son, Elliott, had breakfast with us Saturday morning. We chatted in our rooms and then wandered around the city until I had to go to my afternoon lecture, when he left to motor back to his own home in Fort Worth.

I had the pleasure of seeing the home of my old friend, Mrs. Percy Penhysbacker, at tea time. It is very pleasant to see someone you have known in various other surroundings, in their own home by members of their family.

At 4:30 I went to see a roadside park, one of the NYA projects which has proved most successful in this state. They have built 166 of these parks and the work is done under the supervision of the highway department.

The young people gain experience in rock and cement work which makes it possible for them to obtain employment. One rather amusing story was told me of two boys who tried to get a job with a contractor and were turned down because of their lack of experience. They were taken on an NYA and worked for two days. They proved themselves good workmen and when the same contractor asked their foreman if he knew two good workers, he recommended the same boys. They went in and landed the jobs, which they had sought before without any success.

I had the pleasure of meeting C. R. Smith's mother and sister before my evening lecture. Mr. Smith has been a friend of ours for some time.

Finally, we got on the night train for Dallas and arrived here early this morning. I was made a member of the Good Neighbor Society, which is being established to encourage good feeling with our sister republics in South America. It is also expected to create an interest in the exhibits these nations have been asked to send to the Pan-American Exposition in Dallas this month.

Elliott and Ruth will come in soon and lunch with us. We will return to Fort Worth with this afternoon, to say good-bye to the grandchildren before taking an evening train to Little Rock.

DECORATING THE HOME

By GERALDINE GREENE.

CHILD'S ROOM.
It is perhaps more fun to decorate a little child's nursery than any other room in the house. Everything is so dainty, so colorful and bright that it's fun to work with—at least, that's the way it should be.

The last 10 years have been very kind to small furniture. There are now some sensible, their furniture has been made to size, and you can buy it without spending a small fortune. If I were going to have a nursery out of a small room I'd do it this way.

I think I'd get some bright red and white wallpaper with children's designs on it—the washable kind of wallpaper, of course. And the woodwork would be a pure, glistening white enamel, easy to wash and easy on the eyes. That washability is so important for health's sake and for appearance's sake, so naturally enamel is the thing. The furniture would be fun—for I'd do it myself. It's such a delight to watch the paint flow off the brush and to see the real beauty of the furniture come to life—and that, too, would be white with red trim. There would be built-in shelves around the room—some for toys and some for books and they'd be painted white, with the inside surfaces red. There should be a washable colorful rug on the floor and the ruffled curtains and the tiny bedspread would be red and white checked gingham—the top of the spread just plain white cotton.

Of course, that's just one color scheme. But whatever colors are chosen it is paint and color that really do the trick in giving it the freshness and bright cheeriness that children love. And they do love it, too—just ask any child who he or she will take the blue ball or the brown one—it's the blue one, every time.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care of The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
How can a girl of 15 go about overcoming an inferiority complex, make friends and have fun?
SELF-CONSCIOUS.

Answer: In a sentence: She can stop, look and listen, leave off thinking about herself and force herself to think about what she sees, hears, reads. When she has done this she will cease to make continuous comparisons between herself and others that overcome her with the sense of inferiority and make her self-conscious.

Now this sounds simple but it is difficult because the girl who has formed this habit of turning her thoughts in and never turning them out except to compare herself with her companions, must break that habit before she can begin to form the good one. She must do her thinking about herself when she's alone and when she's with other people, think about them. Whether it is the saleswoman in the shop, the delivery boy at the door, the teacher, or the schoolmate in class, the companion at the party or the family at the dinner table, she must force her thoughts out to others and refuse to let her thoughts dart into the dark recesses of her own mind.

If she marks that program out for a year she can't follow it. If she marks it out for the next hour and the next and the next, she will be surprised at the quick progress she will make. Like every other resolution we make for the long future, this one won't be worth much unless taken a day at a time.

A 15-year-old girl who is ill at ease with her friends, self-conscious in the presence of the boys is going to have a miserable existence unless she bears down hard on herself, makes her mind believe while she's young, and here's why: We human beings have the impulse to run away from whatever we are afraid of, from whatever frets us and makes us feel inadequate. If we feel inferior to our companions our impulse is to avoid them and stay to ourselves. Yielding to this impulse, it isn't long before we are short on friends and short on fun. All the while we are contracting a dreaded spiritual disease known as loneliness. We are withdrawing from people, building a wall about ourselves so high and strong that nobody can peer over or get through it. Worse, we can't get out or see over the wall.

Once upon a time there was a smith who was taken prisoner, chained and thrown in a dungeon. Immediately he began to examine his chain to find some flaw in it so he could break out. But alas, he discovered his own nail on it. He had made the chain and it had been his boast that nobody could break a chain he had forged. And it is this way with the people who wake up and find they have no friends and no fun. They have fastened themselves in the dungeon of their own minds and they can't break out. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I can't believe in my boy-friend's love for me because he refuses to change his religion for me. Our parents are violently opposed to our going together because of difference in churches so we have to meet around the corner and in out of the way places. Here lately I have begun to think I am wasting my time because we can't get married as things are and he shows no signs of weakening about the church argument. Shouldn't a man give up his church for his fiancée when he knows how strongly she and her family feel about it?
NIBS.

Answer: For unadulterated bigotry, I doubt if your attitude could be improved upon, young lady. Can you reverse matters and argue with equal persuasiveness that if you really loved your lad you would go with him to his church. It has been my observation that if you uproot a man from the church in which he was reared (unless it happens that he is a devout religiousist) he ends by being pretty well weaned from any church; whereas a woman can leave her church to go with her husband, take up with him just where she left off and become a perfect proselyte. Understand, I am not urging you to change churches,

POLICE TELL IT TERSELY.

The cause of a recent auto accident in Washburn, Ind., jumped into his lap and caused him to hit a truck.

I am simply saying that if your argument holds good in the case of your boy-friend's affection for you, it must hold good in the case of your affection for him; and that if there is to be any changing you are the logical one to do it—provided it doesn't cut against conviction. And remember, sentimental attachment to and traditional connection with one church doesn't constitute conviction that it points the one and only way to heaven. Forms of worship make so little difference when it is the same God we are trying to reach with our prayers, the same ideals we are trying to work out in our lives. Then why let standing up or sitting down to pray be such a matter that those who stand up can't love and marry those who don't?

Contract Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Here with is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

REBIDS.

When a response has been made to an opening suit bid of one, the opener has another chance to bid. If the response was not forcing he must decide whether to pass or not and, if to bid, what to bid. If the response was forcing, assuming that the opponents pass, he must decide on the bid which best shows the type of hand he holds. Any bid made by the opening hand is called a rebid.

The nature of the rebid will depend upon the bidding zone in which the opener's hand may be classified. The various zones which will determine the proper zone are the general strength of the opener's hand and the maximum and minimum levels of strength which may have been shown by his partner's response.

Today's Hand.

If the contribution featured today is a fair example of the bridge played in Birmingham, Ala., I for one, wish to doff my hat in deep respect. "Dear Mr. Culbertson: I am submitting a deal which came up in a friendly foursome one evening recently. The defensive play was excellent, not particularly difficult, while thought out and had the virtue of being almost 100 per cent safe. South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 10 4 3
♥ 5 2
♦ K 8 5

EAST
♠ 7 5
♥ Q J 10 8 6 5
♦ J 10 8 6 5

SOUTH
♠ A K Q 9
♥ A 4
♦ A 9 7
♣ A K Q 7 5

The bidding:
South West North East
1 spade 4 hearts 4 spades Pass
5 diamonds Pass 6 clubs Pass
6 spades Pass 6 clubs Pass

"I was South and, perhaps, should have stopped at game, but thought that if I could locate a couple of controls in North's hand the slam would be a good gamble.

"I won the opening lead of the heart king and pulled trumps. It seemed unlikely that West had stuck out his vulnerable neck with less than an eight-card suit, so after he showed up with three trumps I figured I was home free, as it apparently would be simple to gather in the two cards in the minors and plow him in with a heart for a forced lead, giving me a ruff and discard and, if the distribution of the minors made it necessary, the needed tempo for a certain squeeze against East. I cashed my club and diamond aces, took a second round of clubs for good measure, led the heart, and leased back with a complacent smirk at my beaming partner, who also was ready for the kill. However, West made no move to rake in the trick and instead grinned at me deviously. Suddenly apprehensive, I snapped back into focus and found that West had done just what I might have expected of him. He had ditched a bourgeois heart on the second round of clubs and saved the trey for a neat duck.

"So I won a trick I didn't want, lost a tempo I had to have, and my partner, faithful husky, all smiles a moment before, got out the anvil and favored me with a rendition of that old favorite, 'The Game's the Thing.'

"Well, all I can say is that if I habitually played against the sort of opponent that F. H. R. had on his left would reduce my bidding appreciably. As my correspondent stated, the defensive play involved was not particularly difficult. But as you, dear reader, and I both know, these 'non-difficult' plays rarely reduce the average player until the session is well over and he is home in bed. Obviously, if West had accepted his heart trick, a squeeze on East would have developed automatically.

Today's Question.
Question: I opened the bidding with one spade. Partner responded with two diamonds. What is my proper rebid with:

♠ A Q 9 5 4 10 8 6 5 3 2
♥ North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

SOUTH

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

HOKKAIDO POPULACE FLEES BOILING CRATER

For five days the volcano on Hokkaido island has been throwing out black clouds of ashes, smoke and boiling mud.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR R. P. CHRISTIAN

Secretary of Holy Trinity Church Buried in Decatur Cemetery.

Final rites for R. P. Christian, prominent Decatur citizen, were held Sunday at the Holy Trinity Episcopal church, with Dr. Charles Holding officiating. Burial was in the Decatur cemetery.

A resident of Decatur for the past 15 years, Mr. Christian moved to that city from South Houston, Texas, where he had been connected with the South Houston Land Company. He previously had been a resident of Macon, Ga., for many years and was affiliated with the T. C. Burke Company there.

Born in Amherst, Va., he attended Kenmore University, in Virginia. Mr. Christian was secretary of the Holy Trinity Episcopal church and was instrumental in selling the old building of the church and erecting the new structure on East Ponce de Leon avenue.

A certified public accountant, Mr. Christian had been auditor for a number of mills and banks in Georgia and Alabama since moving here.

Even Quilt Blocks Become Springlike

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

"Perhaps you will want to 'go poetical on me' and chant some song about spring, sweet spring when you see the name I have given this new pattern. I am calling it 'Spring has come.'"

means that I see this pattern developed in the softest of spring greens or in the pale blue of the forget-me-nots or the lavenders and yellows of the crocus.

"The triangles going around the pieced square are the trees in young leaf or they are the flowers springing up to dot the green carpet or to edge the borders with the precise center arrangement of nine patch, set on end.

This block which measures 12 inches square will look best if it is set into the top with a strip or two of strips which will cross longitudinally and horizontally to form nine patches which will be on the straight or the level, in contrast to the ones in the center of each pieced block."

The quilt club members clipped the directions and the picture from the paper. Then they sent for the sheet with its tracing pattern. They traced the different pieces, three triangles of varying sizes and the two squares, large and small, onto lightweight cardboard.

After they were traced they cut them out and laid them on the goods. They were careful to have them laid on straight and to use material that had been pressed so it was flat. With a sharp pencil they traced the outline of the pieces.

Then they cut out the pieces, allowing one-quarter inch on all sides of the penciled line.

This is the allowance for the seam. In putting two pieces together the stitches are taken on the penciled line.

Send your order to Lillian Mae Pattern Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

By using the lines as guides there is no chance for variation in the size of the pieced blocks. A small, firm knot is put into the end of the No. 60 thread used for piecing. The seams are started and finished in one-quarter inch from ends and edges. This allows you to press the seams open and flat when the block is pieced. Finish the seam with two or three small, firm backstitches. Clip the thread. Don't pull and bite it off.

A border of pieced triangles of the same size as used in the blocks or of two strips of pieced triangles placed so that the points meet as the two seams are joined will make an effective finish for the quilt. Nancy suggests that the border color arrangement, if the last scheme is adopted, have one color for the two triangles that are in the center with the larger plain triangle of white between them, and then that the remaining triangles be of varying colors.

"STOP GAMBLING"

Only Open Gaming Threatened by Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22.—(AP)—Governor Bailey said in a statement this afternoon that open gambling in Arkansas "must stop."

The statement, described at his office as prompted by published reports that open gambling was again in evidence at Hot Springs, read:

"It may just as well be understood finally once and for all that I have no patience with gambling. It is morally and economically destructive.

"I cannot ferret out surreptitious law violations. Open gambling, however, and slot machine operations can be reached by my authority and the law enforcement facilities at my command. It must stop."

Gem of Mystery

the world's largest perfect genuine Zircon now publicly exhibited for the first time!

weight 105 karats! value $10,000

One of the twelve stones set in the breast-plate of the High Priest of the Hebrews . . . forming one of the twelve foundations of the New Jerusalem . . . since ancient days the Zircon has been called the jewel of mystery, and through the ages it has been worn as a talisman . . . said to endow the wearer with magnetism, said to attract good luck, riches and love.

With the flashing, matchless splendor of the diamond, it runs the color spectrum. There are the White Zircons—alive with fire; the "star-lit" Blue Zircons, comparable to the blues of heaven; Red Zircons . . . with the vividness of flame; the most magnificent golden hues known to man in the golden-hearted yellow shades.

Because the modern world acclaims the Zircon the jewel of fashion; because the interest of the world is centered on its mystery . . . its wondrous, glowing beauty . . . Claude S. Bennett is proud to exhibit—for the first time in its history—the Blue Moon of Siam . . . the largest perfect Zircon in the world.

Cracker Rookies Meet Panama City in Opener Wednesday

Mr. Jim Braddock, our current heavyweight champion, has started in doing his road work in preparation for his next fight. Yesterday afternoon he did some very nice road work to elude a deputy sheriff. The deputy was trying to serve a court paper on him which would have enjoined him from fighting Joe Louis in Chicago. Most any sort of training is good for the champion. Our fighters train very little in these days. And what with contracts and lawyers and injunctions, a fighter can get in some pretty fair road work dodging legal plasters.

There is no telling when it will come in handy.

There was much laughter around Gene Tunney's camp when he was preparing for his second fight with Jack Dempsey. He did a lot of his road work running backward.

Yet when Jack Dempsey popped him on the chin at Chicago, the training came in rather handy. When Tunney got up he went into reverse until his noggin cleared of all the cobwebs.

"Fainting Phil" Scott, the English boxer, used to spend a great deal of his training camp time just lying around.

This was excellent training for him as he used that prone position in most of his ring fights.

The lot of the modern fighter is a difficult one. There are almost as many lawyers in the fight game as managers and boxers. It is next to impossible to have a fight without cutting in the lawyers.

The old-timers in boxing could be sure of one lawsuit. At least one young lady would sue charging breach of promise. Invariably she sued the winner who had won the big money.

It probably was just a coincidence, but there never was a breach of promise suit filed against anyone who did not have important funds to his credit.

But the modern fighter has to call his lawyer every morning before breakfast. He accumulates cauliflower ears, court attachments and attorneys. The next step will be to include a lawyer in the corner during a fight. There is no telling when an injunction will come in handy.

DEMPSEY'S KAYO OF WILLARD.

A client writes in and asks:

"In what round did Dempsey knock out Jess Willard? I bet it was the third and my friend says it was the fourth." The bet is off.

There was no actual knockout. Willard sat on his stool at the end of the third round, a broken, bleeding figure. He was dazed, literally cut to ribbons about the face. And he was a done-in fighter.

The bell rang for the fourth round. Officially the round was begun.

Willard made no move. One of his seconds tossed in a bloody towel.

And there followed a furious argument.

Willard lasted out the third round. So he was not knocked out in the third. The bell rang to start the fourth round. The tossing in of the towel meant a technical knockout. There were those who insisted the technical knockout was in the fourth. Others insisted it came in the third because he got the blows then that caused him to fail to answer the bell for the fourth.

There were charges after that fight that Dempsey's hands had been wrapped in leaf lead. But this probably was not true. They could not understand how Willard was cut to bits unless there had been some sinister machinations by Jack Kearns. A six-ounce glove, pulled tight over the knuckles, affords little protection.

And that hot afternoon Dempsey was a money-hungry, fame-thirsty kid, wild with the big dream of the title. That sort of thing makes for lethal fists.

BIG JESS LOSES ALL.

Last time I saw Big Jess Willard was a year or so ago when he was through Atlanta refereeing in wrestling matches. We fell to talking of the rackets in the prize-fight game.

"Man," he said, "you don't know nothing. The stuff that goes on wouldn't be believed. They picked

DOLENC, MILLER AND COOK PITCH FOR BLUEBIRDS

Regulars Will Work in Morning and Cheer Recruits in Afternoon.

By Jack Troy.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 22. The Bluebirds will play Panama City in the opening game of the Cracker exhibition schedule in the grapefruit league Wednesday afternoon, Manager Eddie Moore decided today.

Eddie will have batting and fielding practice Wednesday morning for the regulars. Then they will be excused for the day.

Most of them will be at the park, however, to see the Bluebirds battle. They'll form a sort of cheering section.

Frank Dolenc, brother-in-law of Emil (Dutch) Leonard, Larry Miller and Wilbur Cook, of Senoia, Ga., all right-handers, will work three innings apiece in the opening game.

Two rookie catchers—Ed Adams and Tommy Cateno—will divide the catching.

The infield will include Joel Tierce at third, John Arnerich at short, Harry Laval at second and Andy Johnson on first.

In the outfield there'll be Gerald McQuig, of Douglas, Ga., in left; Red Pittman, of Atlanta, in center, and Norman Dewesse in right.

BIG AND FAST.

These three are considered as top-rookie outfield prospects. All three are big and fast and can punish a baseball.

You may take the word of either Coach Guy Green or President Dick Niehaus, of the Bluebird club, that this rookie outfit will take a lot of beating.

The rookie infield worked out after the regulars finished today and Emil Mailho, the peppery French outfielder, sat in the stands saying, "Oh, oh, it hurts my arm to watch them throw." In fact, Coach Guy Green had to stop practice and caution the rookies to slow up. They were wheeling the baseball around so fast that it looked like a pea out of a blow gun.

The rookies are full of fire and ginger. So for the sake of Panama City, it probably would be better if the regulars were going to be up and at 'em instead of the Bluebirds, who are battling for jobs.

TO SATISFY HIMSELF.

Manager Moore expects to satisfy himself on several points watching the Bluebirds under fire.

Cole, Muse, March and Todd also will be used in the first game. Harris, Maltzberger, Simons and Robinson, fine-looking rookie pitchers, will be used in the batting practice and will see service in the later games.

The regulars will take their '37 bow against the House of David nine Friday afternoon. It is expected that three pitchers will be chosen to work three innings apiece.

It isn't very likely that either Dutch Leonard or John Michaels will be used Friday. Leonard has been pitching in batting practice but he needs a little time yet.

Michaels has developed a bit of stiffness in the elbow of his southpaw pitching arm and Moore has told him to take it easy.

Michaels is a hard worker and insisted on pitching to batting practice anyway.

CAUSE FOR ALARM.

"I don't think there is any cause for alarm concerning Michaels' arm," Moore said after practice. "But he had trouble with it last year and I don't want him to take any chances."

"The fellow is such a worker he won't tell you when he isn't feeling right," declared Moore.

Today's drill was one of the best yet. The weather was perfect. A long batting drill was held. Mailho and Todd, a rookie outfielder, parked drives over the fence.

The Cracker continue to pound the ball at a smashing pace. It sounds like they have turned a crew of axmen loose on the Cracker camp. But the paper mill when our noble lads start swinging their bats.

The pitchers were allowed to throw a few curves today for the first time. They didn't throw many. But they're getting ready to break them in there.

A week of such weather as today would find the Cracker in playing trim. They're in pretty good shape now.

And when the curves begin bending across the plate, Moore will have a chance to see the weakness, if any, of the individual rookies.

Lee Grapples Tiny Hewitt Friday

Bill Lee, the only undefeated professional wrestler in America, will meet Tiny Hewitt, turbulent Memphis veteran, in Friday night's semi-main event at the Atlanta theater. Cowboy Luttrell, of Texas, and George Harben, former marine champion, will feature the card. An opening bout will be announced later.

Lee, the former Alabama tackle, recently announced he had retired from football (last year he played with the Brooklyn Dodgers), and in the future would devote all his attention to trying to win the world's heavyweight title.

Big Bill's victory streak has now reached 30 straight and during that time he has lost only three falls. While he has not met such topnotchers as Orville Brown, Dick Shikat and Everett Marshall, the former All-American, nevertheless has been taking them as they came, and has beaten many good men, such as Karl Davis, Milo Steinborn, Tommy O'Toole, Otto Kuss, Jimmy Parker and Cliff Theide.

If Lee continues to improve as he has in the short time he has been a wrestler, he'll soon be at the top. And it's a good bet he won't long be seen so often in the south. Eastern promoters are bidding strongly for his services and when he thinks he is ready, he'll accept their bids.

Friday's headliner is a return match. Hagin won over Luttrell here several weeks ago in a wild match that turned into a near riot. Luttrell lost because the commission reversed the referee's decision in the second fall that would have squared the match at a fall each.

Luttrell, colorful, daring and a villain of the first rank, is a strong attraction here.

Tickets go on sale Wednesday morning at Marshall & Reynolds.

Here's a Bug's Eye View of Star Cracker Battery in Action at Camp

Here's how a pitch delivered by Emil Leonard, Cracker righthander, to Paul Richards, might look to a bug or worm. Incidentally, this battery is expected to be in there opening day for the Cracker, if Eddie Moore follows his present plans. Both are in top form this spring.

Thomas and Williams Cinch Jobs With Macks

With Kelley, Moses and Newsome on Team, Athletics Will Be Popular in Georgia.

By Thad Holt.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Cracker, I mean Atlanta Athletics, I mean Cracker Athletics, or Athletic Cracker—well, anyway, Mack's club—will be the most popular major league teams with Atlantans and Georgians this season. Three former Cracker pitchers, Harry Kelley, of the 1935 Southern league champions, and Bud Thomas and Al Williams, of last year's club, have clinched regular berths on the old man's staff. Lamar (Skeeter) Newsome, of Columbus, Ga., will be Mack's shortstop and Wally Moses, of Vidalia, Ga., who is the hitting sensation of the spring camps, will be in center field.

While it is a bit of a disappointment to Cracker fans to learn definitely that Thomas and Williams, who won 35 games between them last summer, will not return to Eddie Moore, it also is gratifying to know they have sufficiently impressed Mr. Mack that they are counted upon as regulars.

Of course Kelley was a certainty to retain his job. He is Connie's No. 1 pitcher and likely will pitch the opening game. The veteran rookie should win 20 games.

Bud Thomas might very well be one of the stars of the year. The last time he went up was back yonder when he lacked control. The Senators knew he couldn't put the ball where he wanted to with any degree of consistency so they shoved him back. His work last year with the Cracker proves he has better than average control. Bud has plenty on the ball and Kelley, who should know every time he delivers a pitch. But the tall boy from Waxahatchee, Texas, has a burning fast ball and his 17 victories last year produced some brilliant pitching. He kept fooling the skeptics who said he couldn't last, until finally all were convinced he had the goods.

Since the Cracker have Mailho and Hooks, two former A's, and Mack has a quietest of stars who might well be called Georgia boys, it looks like a big season for Connie's Cracker and Eddie's Athletics.

BRADDOCK LOSES 1ST LEGAL ROUND

Court Requires Jim To Show Why He Should Meet Louis First.

MIAMI, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—The opening shot was fired today in Madison Square Garden's legal campaign to compel Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock to fight Max Schmeling instead of Joe Louis.

A circuit court order obtained by the Garden required Braddock to show cause April 8 why he should not be restrained from meeting Louis in Chicago unless first he disposes of the German in New York.

The Garden matched the champion against Schmeling in a 15-rounder for the night of June 3 in New York. In a subsequent contract, Braddock engaged to meet Louis in another 15-rounder at Comiskey Park in Chicago on the night of June 22.

Braddock was not immediately served with the order. Deputies missed him at Tropical Park, where he had been witnessing the horse races.

Miller, who served as "matchmaker of record" for several of the Garden's bouts in its now demolished bowl here and thus feels more than a legalistic interest in fistfight activities, exclaimed: "Braddock might as well accept

Moore Couldn't Steal Signals From McGraw

And After Eddie Joined Giants He Learned Why; Played Under Fine Managers.

By Jack Troy.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 22.—Eddie Moore used to pass signals for John McGraw.

"When I played with Pittsburgh, Boston and Brooklyn I spent a lot of time trying to steal the Giants' signals," Eddie admitted.

"But it never worked. And it wasn't until I joined the Giants in 1932 that I realized why it couldn't be done."

"McGraw used to sit in a chair with a cane in his hands. He would lean forward, resting his hand on the cane."

"He had certain signals using the cane, such as putting his hands on the head, or running his hand down the cane."

"But what I didn't know when I was playing against the Giants was that McGraw every now and then

Hicks Wins Medalist Honors With 76; Dot Kirby Fires 80

Putts Rolled to Cup, Looked in, Went Past

By Dorothy Kirby

FOREST HILLS HOTEL, AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—I have at last gotten by the qualifying round and managed to shoot an 80 after taking several sixes.

I started out at 2 o'clock with Helen Hicks, who shot a beautiful 76, three under ladies' par. She, by the way, was medalist with Marion Milley second with a 78.

Babe Didrikson played good golf to wind up with a 76. The Babe really hits the ball. A 90 got into the first 16, with the 91's playing off for a place.

I should have had a much better score but I just couldn't do without some sixes. I can always go over any round I ever played and cut off some strokes. I had several putts on the last side to go up to the cup and look in, but evidently didn't like the looks of it, and went past.

They are playing the matches in the afternoon instead of morning. I don't like that. I think I had rather get it over with. I went out to look at the Masters' course yesterday and it is certainly a beauty. The greens look like a carpet. I hope to play it before I leave.

I saw Victor Ghezzi around yesterday.

day, hitting some. I imagine he was brushing up on his game for the Masters' tournament. We went out to the airport this afternoon to look at a plane. Papa Beckett is going home Tuesday afternoon and he can't make up his mind whether to fly back or not, but I think after seeing the plane and sitting in it, he has decided to try it. But I have my doubts, for I am trying hard to get him to stay.

DUNCAN VICTOR.

AIKEN, S. C., March 22.—(P)—William Duncan, of New York, won the 42nd annual Southern Cross golf tournament here today by defeating James Knott, of New York, 6 and 5, in the final 36-hole round.

PAR SHATTERED THREE STROKES IN NEW RECORD

Crews Held Former Mark at 77; Kirby Par Dettweiler Today.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—(P)—Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, Long Island, a professional, established a new women's competitive record for the Forest Hills course today when she turned in rounds of 37-39 to capture the medal of the seventh annual Augusta invitational match play golf tournament.

In turning in a three-under woman's par 76 to pace the field into the opening match play round starting tomorrow, Miss Hicks lowered by one stroke the Forest Hills tournament record set in 1935 by Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Englewood, N. J.

Miss Hicks bagged five birdies on today and the other professional shot-maker entered here, Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, of Beaumont, Texas, came in with standard figures as the field of 52 players set out in quest of the championship captured last year by Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo.

Miss Cothran and Miss Milley each turned in a one-under 78 to tie for the runner-up position while Miss Didrikson's par 79 gave her third place. Miss Cothran was out in 38 and back in 40, while Miss Milley put together rounds of 40-38.

Fourth place went to Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby, three times Georgia state titleholder, who turned in rounds of 40-40 for an 80 as spotty green work exacted a toll.

GUILFOIL FIFTH. Virginia Guilfoil, of Syracuse, N. Y., carded rounds of 41-40—81, to place fifth, just in front of Deborah Verry, of Pittsburgh, who needed 83 strokes to finish in sixth place.

The veteran Jean Bauer, of Providence, R. I., toured the course in 84 equal carding turned in by Alice Rutherford, of Aiken and New York, and Grace Amory, of Long Island, New York.

Others pulling up in the championship flight were Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, of Baltimore, 86; Mrs. R. F. Storm, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Helen Dettweiler, of Washington, D. C., 89; Betty Abernathy, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Roy Burns, of Columbus, Ga., 90; Mrs. Warren Beard, of Boston, 91; Mrs. Beard won the last place award by defeating Mrs. S. J. Sloan, of Baltimore, and Mrs. R. A. McFarland, of Zanesville, Ohio, in a playoff, Mrs. O. B. Keeler, of Atlanta, carded a 110.

TODAY'S PAIRING. First-round match play pairings for the championship flight follow:

1:45—Hicks-Amory.
1:50—Kirby-Dettweiler.
1:55—Verry-Burns.
2:00—Morrow-Miley.
2:05—Didrikson-Storm.

Ben Brown Fight Delayed by Rain

MIAMI, Fla., March 22.—(P)—A scheduled 10-round fight between Ben Brown, the Atlanta middleweight, and Al Cozza, of New York, was rained out tonight and will be fought tomorrow night.

It will be Brown's first ring appearance since he broke his right hand in another encounter.

Fred Miller Bows To Norment Quarles

CINCINNATI, March 22.—(P)—Norment Quarles, North Carolina lightweight contender, gave Freddie Miller, Cincinnati's former N. B. A. featherweight champion, a thorough lacing tonight to win the 10-round feature event of a boxing program at Music hall.

Tennis Champ Goes Indoors

He is shown above returning a shot as the city-wide table tennis tournament preliminaries were played at the Y. M. C. A. Grant drew a bye in the first round and beat Coker in straight sets in the second round.

GIANTS IN SWELL SHAPE. GULFPORT, Miss., March 22.—(P)—Manager Bill Terry put the New York Giants through a light batting, fielding and throwing drill today then surveyed with satisfaction the results of their Havana training tour.

"It did us a world of good, especially Al Smith," he said. "It brought Smitty's arm around and he is in better shape than at any time since joining the Giants. Fred Fitzsimmons also is in good condition and has plenty of stuff on the ball."

NEWARK BEATS YANKEES. SEIRING, Fla., March 22.—(P)—The Newark Bears bumped Bump Hadley for three runs in the seventh and one in the eighth to hand the New York Yankees their second defeat of the training season today, 5 to 3.

SENATORS BEAT RED SOX. ORLANDO, Fla., March 22.—(P)—Pete Appleton, Washington hurler, packed enough dynamite today to turn back the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 1, in an exhibition game.

COLUMBUS WHIPS CARDS, 5-3. DE LAND Fla., March 22.—(P)—The Gasbouse Gang from St. Louis was just being after the first inning for the Columbus club, of the American association, in an exhibition game here today, losing to their minor league cousins, 5 to 3.

PHILS HAVE SORE ARMS. WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 22.—(P)—Manager Wilson curtailed the Phillies' practice to a single drill today. A number of sore arms have developed among the pitchers. Southpaw Bob Burke, Pete Sivers, Elmer Burkhardt and Joe Bowman, right-handers, are nursing ailing throwing arms.

MACK'S CATCHER BATS SIXTH. MEXICO CITY, March 22.—(P)—Connie Mack let it be known today that the Philadelphia Athletics' catcher, either Frank Hayes or Earl Brucker, whoever is working behind the plate, would bat in the No. 6 position in exhibition games starting next week. This change will mark the first time a catcher has batted after eighth position since Mickey Cochrane, as a Mackman, hit from the No. 2 berth.

INDIANS BEAR DOWN. NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22.—(P)—Cleveland Indian pitchers received instruction today from Manager Steve O'Neill to "put all you've got on the ball" in their spring workouts.

"SNOWY" CALIFORNIA. SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 22.—(P)—The Pirates practiced today and watched the antics of winter weather they missed back home. Snow fell as they arose and during the day they saw rain, lightning, hail, sleet and sunshine.

President Bill Benswanger announced that Bill Clemenson, young pitcher from Santa Cruz, had shaped up so well that a minor league job would be sought for him.

CHISOX WATCH TWO ROOKIES. PASADENA, Cal., March 22.—(P)—From the two Chicago White Sox exhibition games with the Los Angeles has come the general impression that two Sox rookies, Frank Pappish and Norman Schlueter, have excellent chances of catching on with the Chicago club this season.

REDS BEAT DODGERS, 9-6. TAMPA, Fla., March 22.—(P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers never recovered from a four-run assault in the first inning and lost their second straight game to the Cincinnati Reds, today, 9 to 6.

'JOCK' APPOINTS TWO ASSISTANTS

PITTSBURGH, March 22.—(UP)—Coach John Sutherland made his first move as sole director of the University of Pittsburgh's football destinies today by appointing two new assistants.

Putting his charges through their first spring practice, Dr. Sutherland announced that Alec Fox and Eddie Schultz, both former Panther gridgers, had been selected to coach the Pitt forward wall. Josh Williams, another former Pitt footballer, also was expected to join Pitt's staff in the near future.

Pitt has been short of football assistants since Eddie Hirschberg, end coach, shifted to Dartmouth, and Dr. Eddie Baker, backfield tutor, moved over to Carnegie Tech, Pitt's city rival.

service, for if he evades the deputies here we'll catch up with him elsewhere." Braddock, as quoted by Johnston, said: "I will not fight again until June, 1936. Then I will stake my all against the foremost contender under the auspices of Madison Square Garden."

"I believe in loyalty. I have been loyal to Joe Gould and he has been loyal to me. The Garden took me off the headline by giving me three fights and then the Baer engagement."

"Naturally, I will stick to the Garden. I know these are Gould's sentiments, too."

Braddock came here three weeks ago for a rest before start of training for his title fight. He said last night he was leaving Wednesday for Stone Lake, Wis., by way of New York.

Twelve Pair Bowlers Bring Entry Up to 58

Another Record in Danger as Couples Line Up for Constitution Tourney.

Twelve pairs of bowlers, representative of half a dozen leagues, added their names to the entry list for participation in the fifth annual Atlanta Constitution doubles duckpin tournament that will be rolled on the downtown alleys Saturday afternoon and night, March 27.

The Constitution's doubles tournament, which is the main subject of conversation with bowlers at the alleys this week as they solicit partners, is due to smash another record in number of entries participating in this popular meet, with the new entries bringing the total number already entered up to 58 couples.

In addition, a number of other entries will be filed later in the week from the Passenger Club, in which there is a most enthusiastic group of bowlers. The Gulf Refining Company's 12-team league will have a large number of bowlers paired according to D. A. Ratliff, president of the oil company loop. Other bowlers from out-of-town alleys are planning to join the fun and competition. And a group from North Avenue Presbyterian

For men of generous builds, for men who like to "feel" their clothes, this new model is the ideal type of coat. Smooth-fitting, snug at the waist and over the hips, the Hart Schaffner & Marx "V"-line is one of the really new ideas in men's styling.

Takes The "STARCH" Out Of Whiskers!

say these Famous Athletes

CASEY STENGEL, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, says: "Take a tip, boys, and try Williams. My beard's tougher than hog bristles, but Williams whips it down in no time."

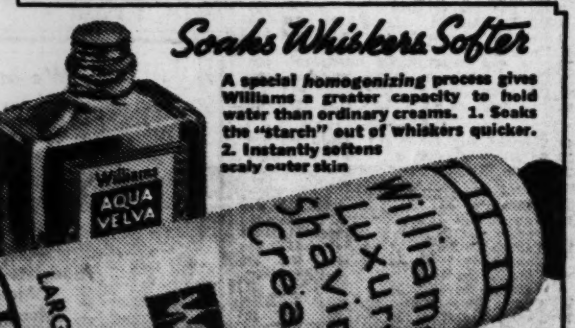

BENNY FRIEDMAN, Michigan's famous All-American, says: "I prefer Williams. It sure softens my whiskers right down to the roots—makes them a cinch for my razor to cut through."

"Twin-Action" Shaving Cream Softens Rough Outer Skin—Wilts the Toughest Beards

GET to the root of shaving trouble. Don't blame your razor or blade. The fault probably lies in your shaving cream. Switch to Williams. Williams Shaving Cream is "twin-action": Its rich, wet lather knocks out every bit of "starch"—penetrates to the base of each hair. Soaks and softens the scaly outer skin on your face—allows razor edge to cut closer, cleaner. Off come whiskers without scraping or pulling.

For a perfect finish to your Williams shave, dash a generous amount of cool, refreshing Aqua Velva on your skin. Closes pores... fights off irritation.

Soaks Whiskers Softer

A special homogenizing process gives Williams a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams. 1. Soaks the "starch" out of whiskers quicker. 2. Instantly softens scaly outer skin.

The tennis team opens its schedule at 2 o'clock Thursday on the Tech courts with Davidson as opponents. Another tennis match is scheduled for Saturday when the varsity meets Fort Benning's officers at Columbus.

Captain Tommy Barnes and his golf team will play Georgetown College of Washington, D. C., Friday afternoon on the No. 1 East Lake course and follow with a double-header Saturday against the Fort Benning officers at Columbus.

Both the varsity and freshmen will make the trip to Columbus for the Saturday matches.

CHAATANOOGA, Tenn., March 22.—(P)—Sit-down striking was dull business today for the caddies of the Signal Mountain Golf and Country Club because few members appeared to play. The club has declined to grant a request of the golf-toters to advance their fees 75 cents to a dollar for 18 holes.
